Triangular Initiative – Achievements and Next Steps
(Summary Note)

Background
Afghanistan’s borders with the Islamic Republic of Iran and Pakistan are under attack from criminal groups that are smuggling precursor chemicals into Afghanistan and trafficking drugs out of the country.
In 2008 and 2009, virtually all of Afghanistan’s opium cultivation was confined to seven southern and south-western provinces, where anti-government elements are very active and security conditions volatile.
UNODC estimates that approximately two-thirds of the opium produced in Afghanistan in 2007 – 2009 was converted into morphine and heroin within the country. Above 70% of Afghan opiates are trafficked via Iran and Pakistan. Since it is incomparably cheaper and easier to interdict drugs at the source than at destination, cooperation between Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan in countering drug trafficking would help in effectively addressing the problem.

Regional response to a security challenge
In 2007, in the framework of the Paris Pact Initiative, UNODC developed a regional approach to the Afghan challenge, called the Rainbow Strategy. It engages both Afghanistan and neighboring countries in finding solutions. This strategy consists of several operational plans targeting seven internationally agreed priority areas, including border management and precursor chemicals (the latter is known as operation TARCET\(^1\)). One of these operational plans - the Triangular Initiative - aims to enhance cross-border cooperation in the field of counter narcotics enforcement among the three countries. Below is a list of results achieved by these two initiatives since their inception.

- First Ministerial Meeting, Vienna, June 2007 – Joint Statement
  Public security and counter narcotic ministers, as well as senior officials from Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan discussed existing threats, domestic counter-narcotic strategies, and ways of improving bilateral and regional cooperation. They issued a joint statement on the need for action, particularly in the most vulnerable border regions. They committed themselves to work together in countering drug trafficking; stopping the diversion and smuggling of precursor chemicals; locating and destroying drug labs; tackling corruption which facilitates the drug business; and halting the laundering of drug money.

- Second Ministerial Meeting, Tehran, May 2008 – Five priority measures
  Senior delegates from the three countries agreed on a set of five priority measures to improve their cross-border cooperation in the field of drug control. These operational measures are: (i) establishing a Joint Planning Cell, based in Tehran, to serve as a platform for information/intelligence exchange and joint operations; (ii) launching one or two intelligence-based operations within twelve months; (iii) establishing pilot Border Liaison Offices in selected locations on each of the borders; (iv) to support and participate in Operation TARCET; (v) holding annual Ministerial Meetings and bi-annual senior officials meetings.

- Third Ministerial Meeting, Vienna, October 2009 – Follow up and enhancement of TI
  At the Vienna meeting, the three parties agreed to appoint permanent liaison officers to the Triangular Initiative's Joint Planning Cell in Tehran in order to enhance analytical and operational capacity. They also agreed to establish Border Liaison Offices - one on each side of each respective border. Furthermore, they agreed to step up the number of joint patrols and joint operations. These measures are designed to improve drug control and strengthen trust and confidence. The meeting also focused on linking the Triangular Initiative to the Central Asia Regional Intelligence Centre (CARICC) in Almaty, Kazakhstan, as well as a possible future counter-narcotics intelligence-sharing centre in the Persian Gulf.

\(^1\) TARCET stands for Targeted Anti-trafficking Regional Communication Expertise and Training.
I. Joint Planning Cell
The Drug Control Headquarters of the I. R. of Iran in 2008 allocated and equipped an office for the Joint Planning Cell (JPC) that aims to facilitate information and intelligence exchange among the three countries, as well as the coordination of regional operations against drugs and chemical precursors trafficking groups. The JPC has since worked in a pilot phase with a permanent liaison officer from Iran and temporary liaison officers from Afghanistan and Pakistan.

II. Regional Precursors Control Programme
The regional programme in precursors control – operation TARCET – is focused on the coordination of regional capacities in detecting and interdicting smuggling/diverting to criminal activities of precursor chemicals; developing a well trained pool of personnel in law enforcement agencies and; equipping enforcement mechanisms in precursors control with necessary tools. In 2008, this operation already showed some positive results: the seizure of some 25 tons of acetic anhydride and about 30 tons of other chemicals in Iran and Pakistan.

III. Joint Operations against Drug Trafficking Groups, 2009
Counter narcotic agencies of Iran and Pakistan carried out the first-ever joint operation against drug trafficking networks on 8 March 2009. Another one followed on 26-28 July 2009 by the Iranian and Afghan counter narcotics agencies along Afghani-Iran border. Conducted along the borders between Iran and Pakistan and Iran and Afghanistan, the operations led to seizures of drugs and arrests of drug traffickers\(^2\). The 3rd joint operation was carried out by counter narcotic agencies of Iran and Pakistan on 24-25 August 2009. During this operation 664 Kg of different drugs were seized by Iranian Anti Narcotic Police. Future joint operations will be based on the lessons learned in 2009.

IV. Border Liaison Offices
The I.R.s of Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan have identified locations of the pilot BLOs at their respective borders. The three countries are preparing needs assessment missions before starting BLOs establishment and operations.

The way forward (November 2009 – November 2010)
During the discussions held at the Third TI Ministerial meeting (Vienna, 27\(^{th}\) October 2009), the heads of the delegations of the three countries, agreed to strengthen their efforts to give effects to the followings, amongst others:

- Moving from the pilot phase to a fully functioning JPC with an increasing role in information and intelligence collection/analysis exchange, as well as coordination of joint operations.
  - Carrying out joint patrolling and/or area-targeted operations once every two months.
  - Intelligence-led operations will be carried out on a case-to-case basis.
- Implementation of the one year pilot phase of the BLOs.
  - Carry out needs assessment, assignment of BLOs staff, planning of BLOs operations for the pilot phase, supplying necessary equipment and provision of training.
  - Convening two regional workshops assessing initial stages of BLOs operations and a regional senior level meeting evaluating the pilot phase results and identifying actions for future phases of BLOs development.
- Ensure agreement on modality of cross-border communication (in the form of cross-border communication plan) through the panel of trilateral communication experts and make such communication operational.
- Holding the bi-annual Senior Officials Meeting in April 2010 in Kabul, October 2010 in Islamabad and the 4th Ministerial Meeting in October 2010 in Islamabad.
- Explore possibilities to expand the scope of the Triangular Initiative to the fields of drug demand reduction and rule of law.

\(^2\) During the first joint operation the Iranian Anti-Narcotics Police and Afghan Counter Narcotics Police Administration seized 497 kg of opium, 93.5 kg of heroin and 98 kg of hashish. Three drug criminal gangs were dismantled and 22 persons arrested.
Border Management Cooperation in Drug Control between Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan

Joint Statement

Afghanistan’s border regions between Iran (Islamic Republic of) and Pakistan are under attack from criminal groups that are smuggling precursor chemicals into Afghanistan and trafficking drugs out of the country. This creates regional instability and poses a serious health risk. This trans-national threat requires a cooperative solution.

United in their desire to counter-act this common threat along their common borders, public security and counter narcotic ministers and senior officials from Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan met in Vienna on 12 June 2007 – with the facilitation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) – to discuss existing threats, domestic counter-narcotic strategies, and ways of improving bilateral and regional cooperation. Their very agreement to meet sends a strong political signal on their desire to work together.

They stressed the wish to focus not only on trafficking, but on all aspects of the drug economy: stopping the diversion and smuggling of precursor chemicals; locating and destroying drug labs; tackling corruption which facilitates the drug business; and halting the laundering of drug money.

Participants made a strong commitment to work towards the realization of more physical barriers to block trafficking routes, increased law enforcement capacity and assets, more joint operations, better communication, and increased intelligence sharing, for example on trafficking routes, traffickers and suspicious shipments.

States where opiates are consumed should assume their share of responsibility for creating the pull factor that is fuelling the opium trade. More attention should be devoted to drug prevention and treatment to save humanity from the misery and instability created by drug abuse. States where precursor chemicals are produced should tighten up their procedures to prevent diversion.

Senior representatives of the three countries taking part in the Triangular Meeting agreed on the need for action, particularly in the most vulnerable border regions. They committed themselves to implement an Action Plan comprised of a range of projects designed to strengthen national, bilateral and trilateral border management and security. UNODC was asked to facilitate the implementation of technical assistance, serve as the Secretariat for the initiative, and mobilize financial support.

In order to improve confidence, security, and cooperation in relation to border management in drug control, senior delegates from Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan agreed to hold policy-level coordination meetings at least every six months and technical-level exchanges every three months. This should enable more regular and operational contacts that can stem the flow of drug trafficking from Afghanistan.

PRESS RELEASE

Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan agree to strengthen counter-narcotics cooperation

VIENNA, 12 June 2007 (UNODC) – Senior officials from Afghanistan, the Islamic Republic of Iran and Pakistan agreed at a meeting hosted by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime on Tuesday to work more closely to stop the threat of drug trafficking along their common borders.

In a joint statement, the ministers of public security and counter-narcotics from the three countries expressed their intention to take action to reduce the threat posed by Afghanistan’s opium. “This trans-national threat requires a cooperative solution”, the statement said.

UNODC Executive Director Antonio Maria Costa hailed the meeting as a turning point in the fight against Afghanistan’s drug problem.

“The very fact that these ministers and senior officials turned up and agreed a joint statement is a strong political signal of their desire to work together to fight a common problem. This increases the chances of containing the problem at its epicentre,” Mr Costa said.

The three countries agreed to take steps to improve border management. These will include building more physical barriers, boosting law enforcement capacity, launching joint counter-narcotic operations, better communication, and increased intelligence-sharing, for example about trafficking routes, traffickers and suspicious shipments.

The ministers and officials also agreed to focus not only on trafficking, but on all aspects of the drug economy: stopping the diversion and smuggling of precursor chemicals used to make drugs; locating and destroying drug labs; tackling corruption which facilitates the drug business; and halting the laundering of drug money.

They also urged countries where opiates are consumed – particularly the European Union and Russia - to assume their share of responsibility by curbing the demand that is fuelling the opium trade.

They called on states where precursor chemicals are produced to tighten up their procedures to prevent diversion of these substances that are essential for producing heroin from opium poppy. As the opium problem is best controlled at the source, chemical precursors should likewise be controlled first and foremost where they are produced.

The senior delegates from Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan agreed to hold policy-level coordination meetings at least every six months and technical-level exchanges every three months. This should enable more regular and operational contacts that can stem the flow of drug trafficking from Afghanistan.
“UNODC is proud to have brokered this process which can help solve the world’s biggest drug control problem”, said Mr. Costa. He urged the three countries to build on the goodwill evident at the Vienna meeting and promised that his Office would continue to support the process, including by mobilizing financial support.

Triangular Initiative: 3rd Ministerial Meeting

Vienna, 27 October 2009

Agreed Minutes
of the Third Triangular Initiative Ministerial meeting (Cooperation in Counter Narcotics and Border Management in Drug Control between Islamic Republics of Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan)

For the second year in a row, cultivation and production (and GDP share) of opium is decreasing in Afghanistan. In spite of these positive results, a disturbing development is taking place. While annual world demand for drugs has never exceeded 5,000 tons, over the past few years Afghan supply has well-surpassed this demand, and illicit drug piles are now expected to have reached 10,000 tons. Afghan drugs have catastrophic consequences all along the trafficking routes. This creates regional instability and poses a political and socio-economic risk, and causes negative consequences on sustainable development in the region. This trans-national threat requires a cooperative solution. Based on shared responsibility stipulated in the Political Declaration 2009, the current situation in the region requires regional and international cooperation, including through the Triangular Initiative.

In the First Triangular Initiative (TI) Ministerial meeting, united in their desire to counter-act this common threat along their common borders, public Security and counter narcotic ministers and senior officials from I.R.s Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan met in Vienna on 12 June 2007 - with the facilitation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) - to discuss existing threats, domestic counter-narcotic strategies, and ways of improving bilateral and regional cooperation. Their very agreement to meet sent a strong political signal on their desire to work together along their common borders. In a joint statement, the ministers of public security and counter-narcotics from the three countries expressed their intention to take coordinated joint action to reduce the threat posed by Afghanistan's opium and opiate trafficking. (The text of the first TI ministerial joint statement is annexed).

The Second TI Ministerial meeting was held on 7 May 2008 in Tehran. The Meeting which was jointly organized by the Drug Control Headquarters (DCHQ) of the I.R. of Iran, and UNODC was aimed at endorsing operational measures to improve cooperation in drug control among the I.R.s of Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan. Towards this end a Senior Officials Meeting (SOM) was convened on 6 May. Representatives of the three countries prepared recommendations for the ministers, addressing practical measures to upgrade cross-border cooperation, information exchange and planning of joint operations.

The second TI Ministerial Meeting adopted the recommendations proposed by the SOM and expressed joint commitment to their implementation. (The text of the second TI ministerial joint statement is annexed).
