is defined as the one bringing material profit or other benefit to the public official or his/her close relatives, and “public interest” is understood as bringing the same to all citizens or a large number thereof. The Constitutional Act obliges public officials to seek and protect the public interest and not use his/her office, powers appertaining or information acquired in relation therewith to his/her benefit, or that of his/her close relatives or other natural or legal person.

When discussing a matter in which a public official has a vested interest, public official is to declare it prior to making a statement including if it may bring material profit to a political party or movement of which s/he is a member, provided that this fact is known to him/her. Supervision over compliance with the Constitutional Act is entrusted to the Committee on the Incompatibility of Functions of the National Council. Its competence is also to impose penalties. Penalty may amount to up to 12 - month salaries. Moreover, in certain situations anticipated by the Constitutional Act, the loss of mandate or public office may be pronounced by the Committee on the Incompatibility of Functions of the National Council.

More specifically, the incompatibility of certain offices, jobs and activities with the public officials who are MPs is regulated at first by the Slovak Constitution, which stipulates that the post of a member of Parliament is incompatible with that of a judge, prosecutor, public defender of rights, member of the Armed Forces, Armed Corps and European Parliament.

Furthermore, pursuant to Section 5 of the Constitutional Act, MPs may not form the statutory body or be a member of the statutory body, a member of a steering, control or supervisory body of a legal person established to conduct business activities. This requirement does not apply to:

- (a) membership in a body of a legal person which results from the law or discharge of public office;
- (b) representation of the state or National Property Fund in a legal person/its body, when the former participates in the latter's capital;
- (c) the representation of a municipality or a higher territorial unit in bodies of legal persons under the same conditions as above; and
- (d) situations where legal persons conduct business activities but no remuneration is paid for membership thereof. Moreover, there is a ban on carrying out business activities, except for professions which may only be exercised by a natural person under conditions stipulated by law. Within 30 days of assuming office, a deputy is to terminate such office, profession or activity or to perform a legal act leading to its termination specified by law.

- y) Members of the Regulatory Board,
 - z) The Head of the Telecommunications Office of the Slovak Republic,
 - za) The Head of the Postal Regulatory Office,
 - zb) Statutory body or members of the statutory body of companies which are entirely owned by the state,
 - zc) General managers of state companies and members of supervisory boards of state companies appointed by the state; and

 - zg) The Director General of the Railways of the Slovak Republic,
 - zh) Members of the statutory body of the Export-Import Bank of the Slovak Republic,
 - zi) The Head of the Bureau for Supervision of Health Services,
 - zj) Members of the Executive Committee of the National Property Fund of the Slovak Republic,
 - zk) The Head and the Deputy Head of the Postal Regulation Office

Regarding the request to prevent conflicts of interest, the Act No. 32/2015 Coll. amending the Act of the National Council of the Slovak Republic No. 120/1993 Coll. on Salaries of Some Constitutional Officials of the Slovak Republic as amended was adopted on 4 February 2015. The Act entered into force on the day of the next general elections to the National Council, it means on 5 March 2016.

The limitation of accumulation of income is governed by the Act No. 120/1993 Coll. on Salaries of Some Constitutional Officials of the Slovak Republic as amended and supplementing certain acts. The Act No. 32/2015 Coll. amended new paragraphs 4 and 5 into the Section 2 regulating a limitation of the accumulation of income from public funds as follows:

Paragraph 4: "If a Member of the Parliament exercises, in addition to the functions specified in Art. 3, another function, from which he/she is entitled to receive a salary from public funds, the income from other functions shall not exceed the minimum wage.

Paragraph 5: The income according to the paragraph 4 for the purpose of this Act of the National Council of the Slovak Republic no. 120/1993 Coll. on the salaries of some constitutional officials of the Slovak Republic as amended and supplementing certain acts is:

- A remuneration or a salary of the mayor of a self-governing region and his/her deputy, and the mayors of municipalities and deputies,
- A salary of an employee, who is a statutory body or a member of a statutory body, or who is in a directing position of a statutory body,
- Remuneration for the exercise of a representative in self-governing regions,
- A salary or a remuneration of the Director General of the Social Insurance Agency,
- A salary, income or a remuneration from public funds for the exercise of a function in a statutory body or a member of a statutory body of a
- Legal entity established by law or under law by state authorities, self-governing regions or municipalities,
- A public institution or
- Any similar income from public funds. "

It should be also noted that in October 2017 a working commission for reviewing and preparing an amendment to Constitutional Act no. 357/2004 Coll. on the protection of the public interest in the performance of functions of public officials was set up. Its goals are to review and amend Constitutional Act thereby strengthening existing framework.
