Conclusions

- Federal Statistical Office
  - intermediate actor between subnational and international level
  - provides data at national level for national and international data requests
  - gets basic data from statistical offices of the Länder and other data providers

- Crime and Criminal Justice statistics at national level
  - Long tradition of statistics on justice (f. e.: Criminal prosecution statistics starts in 1882)
  - Annual data sources: Statistics on police, prosecution offices, courts, prisons
  - Mainly based on legal codes and administrative purposes
  - Justice statistics focussed on proceedings and sanctions against offenders

- Justice statistics at international level
  - Data requests by different institutions on several types of crime
  - Legal and budget restrictions => Principle: Make best use of available data
  - Necessity to compile data for statistical purposes in a comparable way

(First steps: Introducing and ongoing improving of the UN-CTS/Eurostat joint data collection and of an international crime classification for statistical purposes)
