

BOOK ONE
GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF CRIMINAL LAW

TITLE 1
CONDITIONS FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF CRIMINAL LAW
CHAPTER 1
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1: Implementation Boundary of Penal Code

The penal code specifies the offences, points out the persons who could be declared as responsible for the offences and determine the penalties as well as the modalities of their application.

Article 2: Definition and Classification of Offences

The law provides that certain acts of natural persons or legal entities which create social disturbance are offences. Offences are classified, according to their severity, as felonies, misdemeanours and petty crimes.

In necessary cases, legal instruments issued by executive body may state petty crimes which are penalized by monetary fine only.

Article 3: Principles of Legality

Only the act constituting an offence that is provided in the criminal provisions in force gives rise to criminal punishment.

Only penalty that is provided in the criminal provisions in force when an offence is committed may be imposed.

Article 4: Principles of Individual Criminal Responsibility

Each person is responsible for his/her act only.

Article 4: Intention to Commit an Offence

There is no offence if there is no intention to commit.

However, in case that a law is provided in advance, an offence may arise from carelessness, inattentiveness, negligence or failure to respect certain obligations.

Article 5: Interpretation of Criminal Law

In a criminal case, the law is strictly interpreted. The judge can neither broaden his/her sphere of application nor proceed doing so by means of an analogy.

Article 6: Pronouncement of Sentence

No sentence can be executed if it has not been pronounced by a court.

Article 7: Conditions for Application of Cambodian Laws

In criminal cases, the field of application of Cambodian law in space is determined by the provisions of this code, except otherwise stated in the international treaties.

Article 8: Absence of Impunity in Serious Offences in relation to International Humanitarian Law

The provisions of this Code may not constitute a condition for denial of justice for the victims of serious offences provided in a separate law in relation to violation of international humanitarian law, international practices, or international conventions recognized by the Kingdom of Cambodia.

CHAPTER 2
APPLICATION OF PENAL LAW AT A TIME

Article 9: Application of Less Severe Law

The new provisions which abolish an offence are immediately applicable. The acts committed before their effective date can no longer be prosecuted. The legal proceedings in progress must be terminated.

If a final sentence has been imposed, the penalties resulting from this sentencing must not be carried out or cease to be executed.

Article 10: Application of Less or More Severe Law

The new provisions which provide for less severe sentences are immediately applicable. However, the final sentences are carried out regardless of the severity of the imposed sentences.

The new provisions which provide for more severe sentences can be applicable only to the acts committed after the effective date of these provisions.

Article 11: Validity of Proceedings

Immediate application of the new provisions has no effect on the validity on the proceeding performed according to the former provisions.

CHAPTER 3
APPLICATION OF CRIMINAL LAW IN SPACE

Section 1

Offences Committed or Deemed to be Committed within the Territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia

Article 12: Territorial Principles of the Application of Criminal Law

As far as criminal acts are concerned, the Cambodian Penal Law is applicable to offences committed in the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

The territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia includes the airspace and the sea water territory which are bound to the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

Article 13: Location of Offence

An offence is deemed to have been committed in the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia from the moment that one of these constituent acts has taken place within this territory.

Article 14: Offences Committed Aboard Cambodian Ships

As far as criminal acts are concerned, the Cambodian Law is applicable to offences committed aboard the ships carrying the Cambodian flag no matter where they are located.

Article 15: Offences Committed Aboard Foreign Ships

As far as criminal acts are concerned, the Cambodian Law is applicable to offences committed aboard a foreign ship on which the Cambodian authorities are allowed to inspect or arrest by means of an international agreement.

Article 16: Offences Committed Aboard Cambodian Aircraft

As far as criminal acts are concerned, the Cambodian Law is applicable to offences committed aboard an aircraft registered in the Kingdom of Cambodia no matter where they are located.

Article 17: Application of Cambodian Criminal Law with Regards to the Commission of Acts which Started in Cambodia

As far as criminal acts are concerned, the Cambodian Law is applicable to every person who is an instigator or an accomplice in the Cambodian territory of a felony or a misdemeanour committed abroad, if the following two conditions are fulfilled:

1. The offence is punished by the Cambodian law and by the foreign law;
2. The existence of offence has been verified by a final decision of the foreign court.

Article 18: Definition of Offences Committed by Legal Entity

Defining an offence committed by a legal entity as felony, misdemeanour or petty crime is determined by the penalty imposed on a natural person.

Section 2

Offences Committed Outside the Cambodian Territory

Article 19: Felony or Misdemeanour Committed by a Cambodian Citizen

In criminal case, the Cambodian Law is applicable to any felony committed by a Cambodian citizen outside the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

The Cambodian Law is applicable to misdemeanours committed by the Cambodian citizens in a foreign country if the acts are shared to be punishable by the law of such foreign country.

These provisions are also applicable even though the accused has obtained Cambodian nationality subsequently to the acts which had been charged.

Article 20: Victims Who are Cambodian Citizens

In criminal case, the Cambodian Law is applicable to any felony committed outside the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia by a Cambodian citizen or by a foreigner when the victim is of Cambodian nationality right at the time of the offence committed.

Article 21: Filing Charge

In the cases specified in Article 19 (Felony or Misdemeanour Committed by a Cambodian Citizen) and Article 20 (Victims Who are Cambodian Citizens), a charge can only be brought at the request of a prosecution department. The charge must be preceded by the victim's complaint or that of his/her assignee or an official denunciation by the authorities of the country where the acts were committed.

Article 22: Separate Jurisdiction for Separate Crimes

In criminal case, the Cambodian Law is applicable to any offence committed outside the territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia and if it is qualified as:

1. infringement against the safety of the Kingdom of Cambodia;
2. counterfeiting the seal of the Kingdom of Cambodia;
3. counterfeiting national bank notes having legal tender in the Kingdom of Cambodia;
4. offence against diplomatic or consular agents of the Kingdom of Cambodia
5. offence against diplomatic or consular premises of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

Article 23: Non-Cumulative Charge and Punishment

No prosecution can be carried out against a person who has definitively been tried abroad for the same acts and who, in case of a conviction, justified that he/she has served his/her sentencing or that the penalty was extinguished by an expiration of prescription.

CHAPTER 2

CIRCUMSTANCES FOR AGGRAVATION AND MITIGATION OF PENALTIES

SECTION 1

AGGRAVATION

DEFINITION OF SOME AGGRAVATIONS

Article 77 to Article 82: New visions

SUB-SECTION 2
RECIDIVISM

Article 83: Impact of Recidivism

The recidivism results in aggravating the maximum of the penalty imposed for imprisonment for a felony or for a misdemeanour, under the conditions provided for by this chapter.

Article 84: Conditions of Recidivism

The recidivism was constituted in the following cases:

1. When a person is already definitively convicted for a felony, he/she committed a felony again within a period of 10 (ten) years;
2. When a person is already definitively convicted for a felony, he/she committed a misdemeanour within a period of 5 (five) years;
3. When a person is already definitively convicted for a misdemeanour to a penalty of imprisonment equal to or more than 3 (three) years, he/she committed a felony within a period of 5 (five) years;
4. When a person is already definitively convicted for a misdemeanour, he/she committed the same misdemeanour within a period of 5 (five) years;

The time limits of 10 (ten) and 5 (five) years is counted from day when the decision on punishment of the first offence comes into effect.

Article 85: Recidivism in a Felony

When a person is already definitively convicted for a felony, he/she committed a new felony within a period of 10 (ten) years, the maximum of an imprisonment imposed upon the new felony is increased according to the following scale:

1. If the new penalty for imprisonment imposed upon for new felony does not exceed 20 (twenty) years, this maximum is doubled;
2. If the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon the new felony is 30 (thirty) years, the maximum becomes life imprisonment.

Article 86: Recidivism in Misdemeanour after a Felony Penalty

When a person is already definitively convicted for a felony, he/she committed a misdemeanour within a period of 5 (five) years, the maximum of an imprisonment imposed upon the misdemeanour is doubled.

In the case where, as a result of the recidivism, the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon exceeds 5 (five) years, the offence remains a misdemeanour despite the increase of the penalty.

Article 87: Recidivism in a Felony after a Misdemeanour Penalty

When a person is already definitively convicted for a misdemeanour with a penalty for imprisonment equal to or more than 3 (three) years, he/she committed a felony within a period of 5 (five) years, the penalty imposed upon for the felony is increased according to the following scale:

1. If the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon for the felony does not exceed 20 (twenty) years, this maximum is doubled;
2. If the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon for the felony is 30 (thirty) years, the maximum punishment becomes life imprisonment.

Article 88: Recidivism in Misdemeanour after a Misdemeanour Penalty

When a person is already definitively convicted for a misdemeanour, he/she committed the same misdemeanour within a period of 5 (five) years, the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon the new misdemeanour is doubled.

In the event where, as a result of the recidivism, the maximum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon exceeds 5 (five) years, the offence remains a misdemeanour despite the increase of the penalty.

Article 89: Comparative Offence in order to Create Recidivism

With respect to the application of the provisions on the recidivism, the offences of theft, of breach of trust and fraud are considered as the same offences.

The offence in connection with the receiving of stolen goods is classified as the offence from which the stolen goods are derived.

The offence in connection with money-laundering is classified as the offence relating to the opportunity during which the money-laundering was carried out.

Article 90: Recidivism and Prosecution

The state of the recidivism may be retained by the judgement of the court and constitutes a cause of increasing of the penalty for imprisonment if it is expressly provided in the letter of charge.

Article 91: Recidivism and Definitive Decision

A decision is considered as definitive when it is no longer subjected to the appeal.

For the application of the provisions on recidivism, only the final sentence shall be taken into account in terms of public actions.

Article 92: Separate Provisions

Recidivism may be retained even the penalty arisen from sentencing already expired the statute of limitation.

Recidivism may not be retained when the penalty arisen from definitive sentence is granted amnesty according to Paragraph 4 of Article 4 90 of the Constitution of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

SECTION 2
MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES

Article 93: Definition of Mitigating Circumstances

When the nature of the offences or the personality of the perpetrator justifies, the court may provide the accused the benefit of mitigating circumstances.

The mitigating circumstances may also be granted to the convicted person even he/she is declared as an individual who is in recidivism.

Article 94: Impact of Mitigating Circumstances

When the court grants the accused the mitigating circumstances, the minimum of the principal penalties imposed upon for a felony or a misdemeanour is reduced according to the following scale:

1. If the minimum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon is equal to or more than 10 (ten) years, it is reduced to 2 (two) years;
2. If the minimum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon is equal to or more than 5 (five) years and less than 10 (ten) years, it is reduced to 1 (one) year;
3. If the minimum of the penalty for imprisonment imposed upon is equal to or more than 2 (two) years and less than 5 (five) years, it is reduced to 6 (six) months;

5. The minimum of the fine imposed upon is reduced to a half.

Article 95: Penalty of Life Imprisonment and Mitigating Circumstances

When an offence is sentenced to a life imprisonment, the judge who grants mitigating circumstances may pronounce the penalty of imprisonment of between 15 (fifteen) years and 30 (thirty) years.

REGIME OF SENTENCING
GENERAL REGIME

Article 96: Individual Principles of Penalty

The court pronounces penalties based on seriousness of the penalty and circumstances of the offence, of personality of the accused, of his/her mental state of mind, resources and burdens, motives as well as his/her conduct after committing the offence, in particular towards the victim.

Article 97: Pronouncement of Principal Penalty

In all cases where an offence punished concurrently for a prison term and a fine, the court may pronounce a ruling:

1. either a prison term and a fine concurrently;
2. a penalty for a prison term only; or
3. a fine only.

Article 98: Pronouncement of Sentence Substitution

The penalty for community service replaces the principal penalties. The court which pronounces the penalty for community service may not pronounce imprisonment nor fine.

The penalty of reprimand replaces principal penalty. The court which pronounces the penalty of reprimand may not pronounce imprisonment nor fine.

Article 99: Pronouncement of Supplementary Penalty in addition to Principal Penalty

When an offence was punished with one or several penalties, they are added to the principal penalties except for the provisions as set forth in article 100 (Substitution of Principal Penalty by Supplementary Penalty).

Article 100: Substitution of Principal Penalty by Supplementary Penalty

The court may decide to add one or several supplementary penalties to the principal penalties under the following conditions:

1. when the accused is imposed with a fine as a single principal penalty;
2. when the accused is imposed with a prison term whose maximum is equal to or is less than three (3) years.

When the court decides to replace the principal penalties by one or several supplementary penalties, such court may not pronounce a prison term nor a fine.

Article 101: Exclusive Rules for the Pronouncement of Community Service Sentence

The penalty for community service may be pronounced provided that the accused is present at the hearing and accepts to perform the service. The court, prior to announcing the judgment shall notify the accused that he/she has the right of refusal to perform the service. The response of the accused shall be noted in the judgment.

Article 102: Duration and Timeline of Community Service

The court which pronounces the penalty for community service shall determine the timeline and duration for which the work shall be performed. This period shall not exceed one (1) year.

Article 103: Procedures for the Execution of Penalty for Community Service

The procedures for the execution of penalty for community service shall be set by the prosecutor.

The prosecutor designates the legal entity that receives the benefits from the carrying out of the community service.

This punishment shall be executed under the supervision of the prosecutor.

SECTION 2 SIMPLE SUSPENDED SENTENCES

Sub-Section 1 Common Provisions

Article 104: Announcement of Suspended Sentence

According to the conditions prescribed by this Chapter, the court may order that the execution of the principal penalties be suspended.

Article 105: Regime of Suspended Sentence

In the execution of provisions on suspension, only definitive penalty of public actions will be taken into account.

Sub-Section 2 Prosecution for Felony or Misdemeanour

Article 106: Conditions Related to Previous Sentences

In case of prosecution for a felony or a misdemeanour, a simple suspended sentence may be granted if the accused has not yet been definitively sentenced to the term of imprisonment, during 5 (five) years before these offences..

Article 107: Penalties that may Cause Suspension

The simple suspended sentence is applicable to the following penalties:

1. a prison term when the imposed penalty is less than or equal to 5 (five) years;
2. a fine.

Article 108: Suspension of Partial Penalty

The court may decide that the simple suspended sentence would apply to one part of the prison term that it has set the time limit, or to one part of the fine that it has set the amount.

Article 109: Revocation of Suspended Sentence

If, during the period of 5 (five) years that follows the definitive sentencing for a felony or a misdemeanour accompanied by a simple suspended sentence, then a new definitive sentencing for a felony or misdemeanour occurred, the simple suspended sentence is lawfully revoked.

The first penalty is carried out without being merged with the second one.

Article 110: Non-Revocation

In variance to provisions of Article 109 (Revocation of Suspended Sentence), the court can decide that the new sentencing does not entail the revocation of the previously granted simple suspended sentence. The court's decision shall be indicated the special motives.

Article 111: Annulment of Sentence

If, during the period of 5 (five) years that follows the definitive sentencing for a felony or a misdemeanour accompanied by a simple suspended sentence, and a new definitive sentencing for a felony or misdemeanour does not occur, the sentencing with a simple suspended sentence is considered as null and void.

If the suspended sentence is pronounced with only one part of the penalty, the sentence will be considered as null and void completely.

Section 3
Prosecution for Petty Crimes

Article 112: Conditions Related to Previous Sentences

In the case of the prosecution for a petty crime, the simple suspended sentence may be granted if the accused has not yet been definitively sentenced for the prison term, within 1 (one) year before this offence.

Article 113: Penalties that May Cause Suspension

In the case of the prosecution for a petty crime, the simple suspended sentence may be applied to the following penalties:

1. imprisonment;
2. fine.

Article 114: Revocation of Suspended Sentence

If, during the period of 1 (one) year that follows the definitive sentencing for a petty crime accompanied by a simple suspended sentence, a new definitive sentencing for a felony, a misdemeanour or a petty crime occurs, the simple suspended sentence for the felony, misdemeanour or petty crime is lawfully revoked. The first penalty is carried out without being merged with the second one.

Article 115: Non-Revocation

In variance to provisions of Article 114 (Revocation of Suspended Sentence), the court may decide that the new sentencing does not entail the revocation of the previously granted simple suspended sentence. Its decision must indicate the special motives.

Article 116: Annulment of Sentences

If, during the period of 1 (on) year that follows the definitive sentencing for a petty crime accompanied by a simple suspended sentence, a new definitive sentencing for a felony a misdemeanour or a petty crime does not occur, the sentencing with a simple suspended sentence is considered as null and void. The penalty may no longer be carried out.

SECTION 3 PROBATIONARY SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Article 117: Definition and Conditions for Probationary Suspended Sentence

The court may decide to impose a probationary suspended sentence for a prison term of a duration ranging from between 6 (six) months and 5 (five) years.

The probationary suspended sentence has a power to place the convicted person to measures of control and respect of one or several specific obligations during the probationary period.

Article 118: Probationary Period

The court sets the probationary period. The period can be neither less than 1 (one) year nor more than 3 (three) years.

Article 121: Modification of Specific Obligations by the Court

The court can at all times modify the specific obligations imposed upon the convicted person.

The court shall receive complaint according to the conditions set out by the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Article 122: Revocation of Probationary Suspended Sentence

The probationary suspended sentence may be revoked by the court in the following cases:

1. if, during the probationary period, the convicted person does not comply with the measures of control or the specific obligations;
2. if, during the probationary period, the convicted person is sentenced for a new felony or misdemeanour;

The court may order a whole or a partial revocation of the probationary suspended sentence. In this regard, the penalty is carried out in whole or in part.

The court shall receive complaint according to the conditions set out by the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Article 123: Sentences Considered as Null and Void

The sentence is considered as null and void if before the expiration of the probationary period there is no request for revocation for which a decision was made.

SECTION 4 SUSPENSION OF THE PRONOUNCEMENT OF PENALTY

Article 124: Conditions for the Suspension of the Penalty Pronouncement

In the case of prosecution for a misdemeanour, the court may, after having declared that the accused is guilty, postpone the pronouncement of the penalty if the following conditions are fulfilled:

1. the disturb to the public order resulting from the offence has come to an end;
2. the convicted is guaranteed for social re-integration;
3. the convicted requests the delay for indemnifying the damage.

Article 125: Decision on Suspension

The suspension may be ordered only if the accused is present at the hearing.

The court sets, in its judgement or its order, the date on which the penalty is adjudicated.

The decision on the penalty must be made not later than 1 (one) year following the decision of suspension.

Article 126: Hearing to Review the Stay of the Case

At the hearing to review the stay of the case, the court makes decision on a penalty.

SECTION 5
SEMI-LIBERTY

Article 127: Conditions for the Semi-Liberty Regime

When the court pronounces a penalty for imprisonment less than or equal to 6 (six) months, it can decide that the penalty shall be carried out under the regime of semi-liberty in order to allow the convicted person to pursue a professional activity, to take schooling or training, to receive medical treatment or to support the needs of his/her family.

Article 128: Modalities of Semi-Liberty Regime

The convicted person placed under the regime of semi-liberty shall be allowed to leave the prison within the prescribed time periods.

The court sets in its decision the days and the times during which the convicted person is allowed to leave of absence from prison.

Article 129: Inclusion of the Duration of Semi-Liberty Regime of Penalty

The time period of the semi-liberty shall be imputed in the duration of the penalty under current execution.

Article 130: Setting and Abolishment of the Semi-Liberty Regime

The court may at all times, at the request of the prosecutor, set the time periods of the semi-liberty or abolish the regime of semi-liberty.

The court shall receive the notice according to the conditions set out by the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Article 131: Arrest and Detention of the Convicted Person

The prosecutor may issue the order of arrest and detention of the convicted person who does not return to the prison at the expiration of the time period of the semi-liberty.

SPLIT OF PENALTY

Article 132: Conditions for the Split of Penalty

When the court pronounces a prison term less than or equal to 1 (one) year.

The court may decide, for a serious ground of family, medical, professional or social reason, that the penalty should be carried out by splits.

Article 133: Modalities for Splitting Penalty

Each split is not less than 1 (one) month. The total duration of execution of the penalty, taking into accounts the interruptions, may not exceed 2 (two) years.

The court sets in its decision the modalities of the split.

Article 134: Modification to the Splitting Regime

CHAPTER 4
RULES APPLICABLE IN CASE OF CONCURRENT OFFENCES

SECTION 1
GENERAL RULES

Article 136: Concurrent Offences

Concurrent offences take place when an offence was committed by a person before he/she has been definitively sentenced for another offence.

Article 137: Unique Prosecution

During the course of a single prosecution, when the accused is found guilty of several concurrent offences, each penalty may be pronounced. However, when several penalties of the same nature are imposed, the court shall pronounce only one offence of this nature to a certain extent of the legally allowed highest maximum.

Each penalty is considered as joint penalty with the concurrent offences to a certain extent of the legally allowed highest maximum applicable to each among the penalties themselves.

Article 138: Separate Prosecution

During the course of a separate prosecution, when the accused is found guilty of several concurrent offences, the offences pronounced are carried out concurrently to a certain extent of the legally allowed highest maximum.

However, the total or partial merger of the penalties of the same nature may be ordered by the last court which adjudicates the case.

For the enforcement of this Article, in the event of the convicted person is imposed to a life imprisonment, the legally allowed highest maximum is fixed at 30 (thirty) years of imprisonment, if the accused has never been sentenced to life imprisonment.

The suspension of penalties in whole or in part of the pronounced penalties for the concurrent offences does not hinder the execution of the penalties of the same nature whose suspension is not granted.

SECTION 2
SEPARATE RULE

Article 139: Cause of Amnesty and Reduction of Penalties on the Merger

When a penalty is subjected to a measure of amnesty and reduction of penalties as prescribed in Article 27 of the Constitution, for the enforcement of the rules on merger, the penalty resulting from the amnesty and reduction should be taken into accounts.

The duration of the reduction of the penalties includes the duration of the penalty to come, if any, after the merger.

Article 140: Merger of Fines

In variance to the preceding provisions, the fines pronounced for several petty crimes accumulate themselves and with the fines pronounced for the felonies or misdemeanours.

Article 141: Non-Merger of Penalties Pronounced for Prison Escape

In case of conviction for escape, the penalties pronounced for escape accumulate themselves, without having the possibility for merger, with those pronounced for the offence whose reason has caused the escaped prisoner to be detained.

GENERAL REASONS WHICH AFFECT THE ENFORCEMENT OF PENALTIES

SECTION 1 PRESCRIPTION OF THE PENALTIES

Article 142: Power of Prescription

At the expiration of prescription, the penalty can no longer be executed.

Article 143: Non-Extinguishment of Prescription for Certain Crimes

The penalties pronounced for genocide and for crimes against humanity and war crimes are inextinguishable.

In addition to the crimes as mentioned above, specific laws may determine the non-extinguishability of prescription for other crimes.

Article 144: Prescription Duration of Felony, Misdemeanour, Petty Crime

The penalties pronounced for a felony are prescribed for 20 (twenty) years.

The penalties pronounced for a misdemeanour are prescribed for 5 (five) years.
