

Article 5. Respect for human rights

States Parties shall ensure that the implementation of their obligations under this Convention is consistent with their obligations under international human rights law.

Article 24. Conditions and safeguards

1. Each State Party shall ensure that the establishment, implementation and application of the powers and procedures provided for in this Convention are subject to conditions and safeguards provided for under its domestic law, which shall provide for the protection of human rights, consistent with its obligations under international human rights law, and which shall incorporate the principle of proportionality.

2. Such conditions and safeguards shall, as appropriate in view of the nature of the procedure or power concerned and in accordance with their national legislations, inter alia, include judicial or other independent review, or independent supervision as defined in its domestic law, the right to an effective remedy, grounds justifying application, and limitation of the scope and the duration of such power or procedure.

3. To the extent that it is consistent with the public interest, in particular the proper administration of justice, each State Party shall consider the impact of the powers and procedures in this Convention upon the rights, responsibilities and legitimate interests of third parties.
