Music To Inspire
the fight against human trafficking
Mission

Rukus Avenue has partnered with UNVTF/United Nations Voluntary Trust Fund for Victims of Trafficking in Persons, as part of “Music To Inspire”. A collective fight by the music community to end Human Trafficking. Together with Artists United Against Human Trafficking, and over 30 different artists from around the world, we hope to make a social statement against the various forms of slavery.

We are proud to send all proceeds to the United Nations Voluntary Trust Fund as part of one of the largest unified fronts of artists, ever assembled for a charitable music album. Our goal is to not only uplift the victims of one of the world’s most profitable crimes, but to also bring social awareness, so we can all make changes in our communities to stop this from persisting. We must think globally, but we must act locally.

Thank you for joining the fight to End Human Trafficking!

Executive Producer : Sammy Chand  Project Manager : Raoul Juneja

What is human trafficking?

Human trafficking is a crime that shames us all. It involves the act of recruiting, transporting, transferring, harbouring or receiving a person through the use of force, deception or other means for the purpose of exploiting them. Victims of trafficking can be any age, and any gender. However, women and children are disproportionately affected.

Every year, thousands of women, children and men fall into the hands of traffickers, in their own countries and abroad. Every country in the world is affected by trafficking, whether as a country of origin, transit or destination for victims.
Music That Inspires

The United Nations Voluntary Trust Fund for Victims of Trafficking in Persons was created as an integral component of a global effort to address trafficking in persons. The Trust Fund supports local organizations around the world that ensure women, children and men who have been exploited by human traffickers are identified, treated humanely as victims of a crime and provided with the assistance, protection and support necessary for their physical, psychological and social recovery and reintegration back into their communities.

Rukus Avenue partners with UNVTF under the initiative “Artists United Against Human Trafficking” to raise awareness and provide financial support to victims of trafficking in persons through the Trust Fund. This collaborative effort will move people from all over the world to learn more about the terrible crime committed to thousands of people worldwide and show their solidarity with the victims.
