Overall orientation

13.1 The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) works with Member States to enhance their responses to the interconnected problems of: drug use; transnational organized crime; illicit trafficking in drugs, human beings and firearms; corruption; cybercrime; piracy; and terrorism. To achieve this, UNODC helps Member States to establish and strengthen legislative, regulatory, criminal justice and health systems to better address these challenges and safeguard their populations, especially the most vulnerable persons.

13.2 Organized criminal groups and their activities pose a strategic threat to Governments, societies and economies. Global trafficking networks are likewise having a major impact on the rule of law, security and development and on business and finance. UNODC provides support to Member States to promote integrated strategies, joint responses and tools to address these transnational threats. Comprehensive legislation, effective international cooperation, public security, justice and a fair, accessible, accountable, and effective criminal justice system form the conceptual foundation for these joint responses.

13.3 The intensity and interdependence of transnational threats are growing at a disturbing rate. Member States are increasingly affected by the destabilizing effects of: organized crime; terrorism; corruption; smuggling of migrants; trafficking in human beings, drugs and firearms, wildlife and forest products and other natural resources; illicit financial flows; cybercrime; and piracy. All these factors are undercutting good governance and the rule of law, threatening security, development and peoples' lives.

13.4 Weak rule of law has affected the ability of countries to meet the Millennium Development Goals, as reflected in the gap in performance between conflict-affected countries and other developing countries. The countries which have made the least progress on the Millennium Development Goals are those which have suffered variously from conflict, disasters, poor governance, and/or weak rule of law.

13.5 For the first time, the new global development agenda explicitly affirms that development requires peaceful and inclusive societies, justice for all, and effective, accountable, and inclusive institutions at all levels. There exists a strongly related and mutually reinforcing relationship between the rule of law and development and as such, neither can be realized in the absence of the other.

13.6 The cultivation, manufacture, trafficking and consumption of illicit drugs pose a major threat to the health, dignity and hopes of millions of people and their families and lead to the loss of human life. In order to deal with these issues more effectively, UNODC aims to assist Member States in their pursuit of a balanced approach in implementing the drug control conventions, helping them to develop and implement integrated strategies to improve the resistance of communities and individuals to drug use and drug trafficking. Recognizing that the world drug problem is a common and shared responsibility, UNODC assists Member States in developing common strategies that are in full conformity with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and international law, and in particular with full respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of States, the principle of non-intervention in the internal affairs of States and all human rights and fundamental freedoms.

13.7 UNODC mandates represent universal aspirations embedded in the Sustainable Development Goals. Fostering adherence to the rule of law at the national and international levels, as a foundation for just and fair societies, is at the centre of the work of UNODC. The mission of the Office is to contribute to the achievement of security and justice for all by making the world safer from drugs, crime and terrorism (see E/CN.7/2007/14-E/CN.15/2007/5). The activities of UNODC are grounded in a series of international instruments for which the Office acts as guardian and advocate. They include the three international drug control conventions, the United Nations Convention against Corruption, the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime and its protocols, the international legal instruments against terrorism, and the United Nations standards and norms in Crime prevention and criminal justice.

13.8 Aside from the foundational mandates, the policy directions of UNODC are grounded in: (a) the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development (General Assembly resolution 70/1); the Millennium Declaration (General Assembly resolution 55/2); (b) the twentieth special session of the General Assembly on countering the world drug problem; (c) the recommendations resulting from the 2005 World Summit Outcome (General Assembly resolution 60/1); (d) Economic and Social Council resolutions 2007/12 and 2007/19; and (e) the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem, as adopted by the Commission on Narcotic Drugs at the high-level segment of its fifty-second session.<sup>1</sup>

13.9 The Office has responded to the growing demand for its services, as well as a shrinking resource base for core programmatic support, by establishing an integrated mode of programme planning, implementation and reporting. The Office continues to fine-tune and improve the integrated programming approach focusing on: (a) balanced programmes; (b) “global” integration; and (c) interregional programme cooperation. Essential to this approach, is the development of global, regional and country programmes, which allows the Office to respond to the priorities of Member States in a more sustainable manner and provide assistance for policy coherence and institutional reforms to increase the effective implementation of UNODC mandates, including drug control, crime prevention and criminal justice, at the national, regional and international levels. Notably, this approach deepens the engagement with a wide cross-section of stakeholders as appropriate, i.e., regional entities, partner countries, multilateral bodies, civil society, research institutes, and the mass media.

13.10 Human rights, peace and security, and development are the three interlinked and mutually reinforcing pillars of the United Nations enshrined in the Charter. The Office will continue promoting a comprehensive response to crime and drugs, embracing health, development and security, and taking a human rights-based approach to programming. The Office will strengthen its efforts to promote the implementation of United Nations standards and norms in crime prevention and criminal justice.

13.11 The main United Nations policymaking organs in matters of international drug control, crime prevention and criminal justice — which function as governing bodies of the Office — are the Commission on Narcotic Drugs and its subsidiary bodies and the Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice. also supports the International Narcotics Control Board and the quinquennial United Nations Congresses on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice, as well as sessions of the Conference of the State Parties to the United Nations Convention against Corruption and the Conference of Parties of the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime.

13.12 Each subprogramme falls within the current organizational structure of UNODC, some subprogrammes are implemented by more than one division, which allows for the leveraging of complementarities and synergies.

13.13 In pursuing its objectives, UNODC will make every effort to mainstream gender concerns into its technical cooperation programme.

Strategy

13.22 The importance of addressing matters of international drug control and of crime prevention and criminal justice is also recognized in the new global Sustainable Development Goals, including Goal 3.5 — calling for efforts to strengthen the prevention and treatment of substance abuse, including narcotic drug abuse — and Goal 16, highlighting the promotion of the rule of law and the combatting of organized crime as foundations of sustainable development. The support to the intergovernmental bodies, which is at the core of the subprogramme, is provided bearing in mind this broader context. Substantive responsibility for implementation of the subprogramme lies with the Division of Treaty Affairs. The objective will be achieved by:

(a) Providing substantive and technical support to the following United Nations intergovernmental bodies on matters of international drug control and crime prevention and criminal justice, and as governing bodies of the Office:

(i) The Commission on Narcotic Drugs (including preparations for, and servicing of the 2019 review by Member States of the implementation of the 2009 Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem);

(ii) The Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice;

(iii) The five subsidiary bodies of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs (the Subcommission on Illicit Drug Traffic and Related Matters in the Near and Middle East and the meetings of the Heads of National Drug Law Enforcement Agencies (HONLEAs) for Africa, Asia and the Pacific, Latin America and the Caribbean, and Europe);

(c) Providing independent secretariat support to the International Narcotics Control Board to enable it to fulfil its treaty obligations to monitor and promote compliance by Governments with the international drug control treaties, including by:

(i) Promoting the awareness of Governments and the international community about the implementation of the international drug control conventions, particularly through dissemination of the treaty-mandated annual reports and recommendations of the Board, including through relevant intergovernmental bodies;

- (ii) Ensuring the active contribution of the Board to the preparation and the work of the 2019 review of the 2009 Political Declaration and Plan of Action;
- (iii) Maintaining and enhancing, in cooperation with Governments, the international drug control system, in particular the estimates, assessments and statistical returns for narcotic drugs, psychotropic substances and precursor chemicals, including by electronic means, such as I2ES;
- (iv) Raising the awareness of Governments and the international community about the need to develop national policies and control systems that are capable of achieving the goals of the international drug control conventions in relation to ensuring availability of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;
- (v) Assessing substances used in the illicit drug manufacture for scheduling under the 1988 United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances; monitoring the international licit movement of precursors, preventing their diversion and ensuring the worldwide exchange of information on misuse, through electronic means such as PEN Online and PICS, and Task Force efforts; coordinating the international operational response to problems related to trafficking in new psychoactive substances;
- (vi) Enabling the Board to conduct enhanced dialogue with Governments to promote implementation of the conventions and the Board's recommendations and to engage on treaty-related matters and statutory reporting through cooperation and the provision of training;
