

Anniina Jokinen works as a Senior Programme Officer at the European Institute for Crime Prevention and Control, affiliated with the United Nations (HEUNI) in Helsinki, Finland. Ms Jokinen has over 14 years of experience on working on international criminal policy issues with focus on human trafficking and labour exploitation. She is experienced in conducting research and capacity building activities, as well as developing reports, guidelines and training materials for states, policy makers, businesses, municipalities, NGOs and other stakeholders.

Ms Jokinen has previously worked as an Adviser for the Task Force on Trafficking in Human Beings at the Secretariat of the Council of the Baltic Sea States in Stockholm as well as eight years as a researcher at HEUNI. She has written several trafficking related reports and articles in English and in Finnish with focus on trafficking for forced labour, business model of labour exploitation, sexual exploitation and links between forced, abusive and exploitative marriages and human trafficking.