

Juan Carlos VASQUEZ MURILLO, Chief of the Legal Unit in the Secretariat of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES).

Juan Carlos Vasquez is a Colombian lawyer with postgraduate studies at the University of Geneva. Mr Vasquez ties to the CITES Secretariat back to the late 90s. During his over 20 years in the CITES Secretariat, he has been responsible for legal affairs, including the national legislation to combat wildlife crime, compliance, verification of legality, regional assistance, livelihoods, media and outreach, fund-raising, private sector engagement and partnerships.

Prior to joining the CITES Secretariat, Mr Vasquez worked as an international consultant in environmental law, legal adviser in sustainable development, lawyer of Indigenous communities and licensed attorney in a private law firm.