

Ailsa Hart is a policy analyst with the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) Secretariat in Paris. She leads the FATF's work on environmental crime from the FATF Secretariat, including co-authoring the FATF's 2020 and 2021 reports on money laundering from wildlife trafficking, and other environmental crimes. In addition, she also supports ongoing work on the FATF country mutual evaluations and engagement on virtual assets. Prior to joining FATF, she worked on refugee rights and human security issues in London and Cairo.