

BIO- Nathalie Tatiana Alvarado

Nathalie Alvarado is Sector Technical Leader at the Inter-American Development Bank with over 25 years of experience in various areas of government institutional capacity building in Latin America and the Caribbean, with a particular focus on and responsibility for the Citizen Security and Justice Sector.

Since 2012, Ms. Alvarado has developed, led, and implemented the IDB Citizen Security and Justice strategic agenda with concrete results regarding project portfolio development for the sector with innovative operations and technical assistance projects in more than 20 countries in Latin-American and Caribbean region, positioning the IDB as a leader in the field. She leads a team of professionals at headquarters and country offices.

She actively contributes and promotes the development and dissemination of rigorous and innovative knowledge products, platforms and the expansion of policy dialogues and development strategic partnerships. She is a recognized authority in her field, representing the IDB in high-level international political, strategic, and technical policy dialogues forums with governments, academia, civil society, and the private sector. Her work on police reform, urban safety, and violence prevention has been published in international print and news media and academic journals. Ms. Alvarado studied law at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland and is a magister of Economic Law at the University of Brussels, Belgium.