

Danilo CAMPISI is currently leading the criminal justice portfolio of the Regional Programme for Afghanistan and Neighbouring Countries and supporting the Head of the Programme in all management and strategic issues. He joined the UN system in 2007 and served in different capacities and duty stations with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons in the Middle East, West Africa, Europe and West Asia.

Prior to that Danilo used to work with NGOs/CSOs in Europe and Mexico and as an associate professor of public international law at the Universidad de Monterrey.

Danilo holds a LL.M. in international criminal justice by the University of London, a master's degree in international law and international relations by the Universidad Complutense de Madrid and an advanced degree in law by the Univesita' degli Studi di Catania.