

Adriana Foronda is a Bolivian diplomat serving as the Alternate Permanent Representative at Bolivia's Permanent Mission to Austria and to international organisations in Vienna. She holds a Master's degree in Diplomacy and International Relations, along with advanced studies in critical development studies and economics. With a focus on Latin American development, Adriana brings deep expertise in public policy, international cooperation, and drug policy initiatives.

Her career has involved contributions to high-level negotiations and collaborations on impactful public policy projects. Adriana has worked closely with government agencies and multilateral organisations to support policies that foster regional integration, sustainable growth, and social stability. With a thorough understanding of Latin American governance and policy-making, she is committed to advancing policies that address critical regional challenges, including drug policy reform and social development, by engaging diverse stakeholders and fostering collaborative approaches.