Welcoming the Global Plan for the Decade of Action for Road Safety 2011-2020, which underscores the growing problem posed to road safety, particularly in developing countries, and includes as one of its pillars for action a call for safer road users, to be achieved by, inter alia, developing comprehensive programmes, sustaining or increasing enforcement of laws and standards and increasing public awareness and education programmes,

Recognizing the importance of addressing the health and public safety consequences of drug-affected driving by encouraging the exchange of information and know-how on evidence-based responses,

Recognizing also that the current lack of national data regarding the extent of the problem of drug-affected driving is preventing public awareness of the issue in many countries,

Welcoming the activities of Member States that are making efforts to raise public awareness, develop standardized and reliable means of testing for impairment in drivers affected by drugs, collect data on crash victims who were using drugs at or near the time of the accident, conduct roadside testing and enact and enforce national laws to prevent drug-affected driving,

1. Urges Member States, where appropriate, to develop national responses to address the issue of drug-affected driving, by assessing and monitoring the magnitude of this phenomenon at the national level and by exchanging information and best practices on effective responses, including through engagement with the international scientific and legal communities, while respecting the principles of human dignity and physical integrity and relevant ethical considerations;

2. Encourages Member States to support national and international efforts to collect global prevalence data, in accordance with relevant data-protection legislation, develop effective roadside testing options to assess drug-affected driving, consistent with their legal framework, raise public awareness and increase safety by developing, where appropriate, a coherent and comprehensive strategy to decrease the occurrence of drug-affected driving, including through collaborative efforts that include academia, the private sector, professional associations, non-governmental organizations, civil society, national Red Cross and Red Crescent societies, victims organizations, youth organizations and the media;

3. Underscores the importance of prevention and enforcement measures that tackle the phenomenon of drug-affected driving being focused on increasing road safety and the need for such measures to be deployed in coherence with the enforcement of measures tackling other road safety risks, such as driving under the influence of alcohol;

4. Invites Member States to take notice of existing research standards developed at the national and international levels, which improve the quality, comparability, reliability and utility of research findings in this field;

5. Urges Member States interested in this issue to participate in the first international symposium on drug-impaired driving, to be held in Montreal, Canada, on 17 and 18 July 2011, by sending national delegations that include researchers and governmental policymakers;

6. Encourages Member States to provide the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime with relevant global data, where appropriate and in full respect of existing data protection legislation, on the prevalence of drug-affected driving, as well as the methodologies used to collect such data, and requests the Office to submit to the Commission, at its fifty-fifth session, a report on the submissions received and to work with other relevant international organizations in the preparation of this report;

7. Requests the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, subject to the availability of extrabudgetary resources and in accordance with the present resolution, to participate fully in the efforts by the international community to implement the Global Plan for the Decade of Action for Road Safety 2011-2020;

8. Also requests the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to incorporate, as appropriate, public awareness of the public safety issue of drug-affected driving into future public awareness programmes, which may include awareness of the legal situation, including law enforcement methods and the likelihood of being detected, together with the consequences of the dangers of drug abuse, and further requests the Office to coordinate those efforts with its field offices;

9. Invites Member States and other donors to provide extrabudgetary resources for these purposes, in accordance with the rules and procedures of the United Nations.

Recalling the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971,<sup>7</sup> in which it is recognized that the use of psychotropic substances for scientific purposes is indispensable and that their availability for such purposes should not be unduly restricted,

Recalling also its resolution 53/4 of 12 March 2010, in which the Commission stressed the importance of promoting adequate availability of internationally controlled drugs for scientific purposes while preventing their diversion and abuse,

Noting the requirements to meet the scientific needs for internationally controlled substances worldwide within a regulatory and legal framework that prevents their diversion and abuse,

Recognizing the important role of drug analysis laboratories as part of drug control systems and the value of laboratory results, in accordance with Commission resolutions 50/4 of 16 March 2007 and 52/7 of 20 March 2009,

Stressing the importance of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime quality assurance programme for drug analysis laboratories, through which minimal but sufficient amounts of reference samples are distributed to participating laboratories of Member States, enabling continuous monitoring and improvement of their performance,

Concerned that costs and complex administrative procedures for obtaining required import/export certification and making available reference materials of controlled substances are disrupting routine analytical laboratory work,

1. Encourages the International Narcotics Control Board to continue its efforts to ensure the adequate availability of internationally controlled substances for scientific purposes, and encourages the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to consider providing adequate specifications of their quality, as far as they are available;

2. Requests Member States, in consultation with the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, to review national procedures within their policy and legislative frameworks, as appropriate and in accordance with the provisions of the Conventions, in order not to impair access to reference and test samples of internationally controlled substances for scientific purposes;

3. Invites the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to work closely on feasible mechanisms that will facilitate the provision of minimal but sufficient amounts of reference and test samples of controlled substances to drug testing laboratories, including through the reinforcement of existing national programmes, as appropriate, in order to support their analytical and quality assurance work, and notes that such mechanisms may include the designation of national contact points, preferably the laboratories that are part of the Office's International Collaborative Exercise programme, and the implementation of efficient administrative procedures governing access to reference and test samples of controlled substances;

psychotropic substances, and in which it was also stated that, while legislative and regulatory controls have prevented the diversion into illicit channels of substances frequently used in the manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, such substances still reach clandestine drug laboratories,

Recalling also its resolutions 53/15 of 12 March 2010 and 51/10 of 14 March 2008, in which it urged Member States to further strengthen, update or, if they had not yet done so, establish national legislation and mechanisms relating to the control of precursors used in the illicit manufacture of drugs and emphasized the need for Member States to strengthen monitoring and control systems at the points of entry of precursor chemicals and to promote the secure transport of such substances,

Recalling further General Assembly resolution 59/162 of 20 December 2004, in which the Assembly emphasized the need to ensure that adequate mechanisms were in place to prevent the diversion of preparations containing chemicals listed in tables I and II of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988<sup>33</sup> pertaining to illicit drug manufacture, in particular those containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine,

Recalling the United Nations resolutions calling on Member States to increase international and regional cooperation in order to counter the illicit manufacture of and trafficking in drugs, including by strengthening the control of the international trade in precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of drugs and preventing attempts to divert these substances from licit international trade to illicit use,

Reiterating the importance of further strengthening existing international cooperation mechanisms for the control of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and the need for States to participate in international operations and projects currently being undertaken, such as Project Prism and Project Cohesion,

Recognizing the legitimate need, in particular of the industry and trade sectors, to have access to precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, as reflected in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, and the important role of those sectors in preventing diversion from the licit manufacture of and trade in such substances,

Recognizing also the important work of the International Narcotics Control Board as the principal body and global focal point for the international control of precursors,

Re-emphasizing that the prevention of diversion of scheduled and non-scheduled precursor chemicals is a key element in reducing the illicit manufacture and supply of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances,

Reaffirming its concern about the alarming scale of the illicit manufacture of heroin, cocaine and synthetic drugs such as amphetamine-type stimulants worldwide, the associated diversion of precursor chemicals used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and the emergence of new methods used by organized criminal groups to divert such chemicals from licit trade,

Acknowledging the fact that diversion of pharmaceutical preparations<sup>34</sup> containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine is a concern and is a significant challenge for drug control authorities because such preparations may not be subject to a similar level of controls as bulk (raw) ephedrine and pseudoephedrine,

Acknowledging also that ephedrine and pseudoephedrine contained in pharmaceutical preparations can be easily extracted for use in the manufacture of amphetamine-type stimulants,

Taking note with appreciation of the positive results achieved thus far through Project Prism and Project Cohesion, launched by the International Narcotics Control Board in cooperation with States to stem the diversion of amphetamine-type stimulants and heroin and cocaine precursors, respectively,

Taking note of the offer by the Government of Peru to host, with the collaboration of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, a centre of excellence for the region of Latin America and the Caribbean, with the aim of developing training programmes for public officials on various aspects of precursor chemicals, including the exchange of good practices and experiences,

1. Encourages Governments to continue contributing to the efforts of the International Narcotics Control Board, especially through the Pre-Export Notification Online system for pre-export notification of precursor chemicals, and to also include, to the extent possible and in accordance with national legislation, pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine in these notifications, so as to favour the rapid identification of new patterns of diversion of precursor chemicals used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

2. Calls upon the International Narcotics Control Board to further strengthen communication with Member States and to work with them in identifying opportunities for more effective control and monitoring of the trade in precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

3. Urges Member States to further strengthen, update or, if they have not yet done so, establish national legislation and mechanisms relating to the control of precursors used in the illicit manufacture of drugs, pursuant to the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988;<sup>35</sup>

4. Encourages Member States to adopt, where appropriate, regulatory frameworks to control the production, distribution and commercialization of pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, to prevent diversion, including through the sending of pre-export notifications, without impairing the availability of essential pharmaceutical preparations for medical use;

<sup>34</sup> For the purposes of the present resolution, "pharmaceutical preparations" include those for both human and veterinary use.

5. Also encourages Member States, consistent with its resolution 49/3 of 17 March 2009, to regularly review their estimated requirements for those chemicals listed in the resolution and provide the most recent data to the International Narcotics Control Board;

6. Invites Member States to consider, at the national level, expanding the list of precursor chemicals and substances under international control that are frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

7. Encourages Member States to apply similar control measures for pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine as those for bulk (raw) precursor chemicals;

8. Also encourages Member States in which different or additional regulatory entities are responsible for control of preparations, as distinct from the bulk (raw) precursor chemicals contained in such preparations, to ensure that the government entities coordinate and cooperate in their control efforts, with the objective of maintaining seamless and effective regulatory controls over both preparations and bulk (raw) precursor chemicals;

9. Further encourages Member States to consider strengthening, in accordance with their national legislation, overall control over and monitoring of the trade in precursor chemicals, including pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, that can be easily used in, or recovered by readily applicable means for use in, the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, such as amphetamine-type stimulants, and to monitor, to the extent possible, the legitimate trade in such precursor chemicals and pharmaceutical preparations;

10. Encourages Member States to continue to provide the International Narcotics Control Board with pertinent information on the identification of any new precursor chemicals replacing those precursors frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, on the manufacture of such chemicals and on new means of synthesis and methods being used in the illicit production of drugs;

11. Invites Member States to take appropriate measures to strengthen international cooperation and the exchange of information regarding the identification of new routes and modi operandi of criminal organizations dedicated to the diversion or smuggling of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including with respect to the use of the Internet for illicit purposes, and to continue to notify the International Narcotics Control Board of such information;

12. Requests Member States to continue to submit to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, through the annual report questionnaire, information related to cases of illicit traffic within their jurisdiction that they consider important because of new trends disclosed, the quantities involved, the sources from which the substances are obtained or the methods employed by persons so engaged, in line with the provisions of article 20 of the 1988 Convention;

13. Invites Member States to raise awareness of, and build capacity in addressing, the risks of diversion of pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine;

14. Emphasizes the need for Member States to strengthen monitoring and control systems at all points of entry and exit of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including airports, seaports, river ports and customs posts, and promote the secure transport of such substances, and underlines the urgent need to increase international cooperation in this area, in particular to support the control efforts currently being undertaken by developing countries;

15. Encourages Member States to develop joint actions with their national chemical industry, as such actions greatly enhance access by regulatory authorities to important information relating to unusual sales and transactions of precursors;

16. Invites Member States to promote voluntary codes of conduct for the chemical industry, in accordance with the International Narcotics Control Board's Guidelines for a Voluntary Code of Practice for the Chemical Industry,<sup>36</sup> in order to promote responsible commercial practices and sale of chemicals, and prevent the diversion of chemicals to illicit drug manufacturing channels;

17. Invites the International Narcotics Control Board, in cooperation with Member States, to look into the issue of diversion of veterinary pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, as well as the measures adopted by States for its control, and invites interested Member States to make contributions for this purpose.
