UNODC is the international focal point on crime and criminal justice statistics and through the years, has led international work to improve data in these areas. In 2013 the ‘Road map to improve the quality and availability of crime statistics at the national and international levels’ was adopted by the UN Statistical Commission and the UN Commission on Crime prevention and Criminal Justice. Since then, a number of key tools and activities have been developed to improve statistical information and analyses at national and international level.

On such basis, UNODC has been identified – alone or jointly with other organizations - as custodian agency for 15 indicators to monitor relevant targets of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). This implies that UNODC is tasked for global monitoring, providing methodological guidance, and conducting technical assistance in relation to statistics underpinning SDG targets on public security and safety, trafficking, corruption, and access to justice.

INTERNATIONAL DATA COLLECTION AND ANALYSIS

UNODC has been conducting a global data collection on crime and criminal justice (UN-CTS) since the 1970s. Its major goal is to collect data on the incidence of crime and the operations of criminal justice systems with a view to improving its global analysis and dissemination.

ACHIEVEMENTS

✓ Establishment of a global network of national UN-CTS focal points, which is the basis to expand coverage and quality of collected data. UN-CTS coverage annually reaches over 50% of countries, corresponding to over three-quarters of the global population.

✓ Within the global database on crime and criminal justice, UNODC has developed a comprehensive repository of data on intentional homicide. This database is the basis for the Global Study on Homicide, a flagship publication that periodically analyses global and regional features of homicidal violence and its drivers.

✓ Regular data collection on trafficking in persons, which serves as the basis of the biennial production of the Global Report on Trafficking in Persons.

✓ UNODC has compiled the World Wildlife Seizure data platform World WISE, an international data repository for monitoring trends and patterns in wildlife crime, which has led to the inaugural publication of the World Wildlife Crime Report in 2016.

✓ After the first data collection, which led to the first UNODC Study on Firearms in 2015, a new global data collection on trafficking in firearms is under preparation.

CAPACITY BUILDING

UNODC has undertaken a number of initiatives (technical assistance, online training and seminars) across world regions to support national institutions in the production of crime and criminal justice statistics.

ACHIEVEMENTS

✔ Training workshops delivered and e-training packages created to support the implementation of victimization surveys and improvements to administrative data from law enforcement, judiciary and prisons. The services have been delivered in Asia, Africa and Latin America with more than 500 participants across 40 countries.

✔ Advisory services to implement surveys in the areas of corruption and bribery, victimization and access to justice in countries such as Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Jamaica, Nigeria, Panama, Peru and in countries from the Western Balkans.

✔ Support to countries implementing the International Classification of Crime for Statistical Purposes (ICCS), including through a dedicated virtual platform and direct advisory activities.

✔ Technical Assistance to Western Balkan countries in measuring organized crime in order to enhance evidence-based policy making.

UNODC – INEGI CENTER OF EXCELLENCE

The UNODC-INEGI CoE seeks to develop institutional capacities throughout the Latin American region and at the international level regarding statistical processes in the fields of government, public security, victimization and justice by providing training, technical assistance in the collection, production and dissemination of statistics, promoting the exchange of methodologies and the adoption of regional and international standards.

METHODOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT

Improving the quality of crime data through international standards and guidance is a priority. Reliable statistics on crime and criminal justice are critical for measuring changes in crime levels, patterns and to monitor state responses to crime. However, issues of data availability, quality and comparability remain a challenge in many countries and regions.

ACHIEVEMENTS

✓ The International Classification of Crime for Statistical Purposes (ICCS) is a landmark achievement and provides a standard classification of criminal offences enhancing the consistency and international comparability of crime statistics.

✓ The Latin America and the Caribbean Crime Victimization Survey Initiative (LACSI), a common methodology to promote high quality and standardized victimization surveys.

✓ An Atlas of Victimization Surveys including data, methodologies and reports of the surveys conducted around the world to facilitate the exchange of best practices and the adoption of sound methodological standards.

✓ An innovative methodological approach to estimate the number of undetected victims of human trafficking across the world as envisaged by the SDG indicator framework.

ONGOING WORK

UNODC is currently developing the following methodological guidelines:

• Manual on Corruption Surveys
• Guidelines for the Production of SDG Indicators sourced from Victimization Surveys
• ICCS Implementation Manual

FORTHCOMING ACTIVITIES

Jointly with UNCTAD, a project to develop the methodology for the SDG indicator on Illicit Financial Flows will be started soon.
INTERNATIONAL DIALOGUE AND PARTNERSHIPS

A crosscutting pillar within the areas of the road map is international dialogue and partnerships. A global partnership is needed to improve data on crime, access to justice and the rule of law. UNODC has developed a number of significant activities that have been implemented jointly with key national and international partners:

ACHIEVEMENTS

☑ Partnerships for data collection with Eurostat and the Organization of American States. This type of cooperation has a positive impact in streamlining data-collection processes, improving data quality and reducing the response burden on countries for international data collections.

☑ Cooperation with the Inter-American Development Bank, the Organization of American States and United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in the development of capacity building tools and trainings in Latin America and the Caribbean.

☑ In the Asia/Pacific region, a regional process to improve crime and criminal justice statistics has been launched in collaboration with the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific, the Korean Institute of Criminology and the Thailand Institute of Justice. Two regional meetings on Crime Statistics and Victimization Surveys have been held in Bangkok (December 2014) and in Seoul (November 2016).

☑ Starting in 2012, three large international conferences have been held in Mexico to present and discuss new methodologies and best practices on statistics and measurement of crime, victimization and criminal justice. These conferences, by bringing together a broad range of data users and producers, foster their utilization and further development. The fourth conference will take place in 2018.

☑ Together with UNDP and UNESCO, UNODC is facilitating the Global Alliance for Reporting Progress on Peaceful, Just, and Inclusive Societies, an initiative to support and promote national reporting mechanisms and capacities.
