

Measuring Illicit Financial Flows from illegal markets - Presentation of results from pilot studies in four countries of Latin America

As the custodian agencies of SDG Indicator 16.4.1¹, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) developed the *Conceptual Framework for the Statistical Measurement of Illicit Financial Flows (IFFs)*² and a set of guidelines to measure IFFs originating from different types of illicit activities. In order to test the methodological guidelines related to illegal markets and other criminal activities, UNODC, through the Centre of Excellence (CoE) for Statistical Information on Governance, Public Security, Victimization and Justice, conducted pilot testing activities in four Latin America countries, namely Mexico, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia. The activities focused on measuring IFFs from drug trafficking, smuggling of migrants, trafficking in persons and illicit gold mining, and were carried out between 2018 and 2020 within the scope of the United Nations Development Account project “Developing indicator on illicit financial flows and monitoring them in Latin America” (1617 AL).

This meeting is aimed at presenting the results of pilot testing activities conducted in the four countries, including national estimates of IFFs from selected illegal activities. Representatives of the relevant national institutions, UNODC, the CoE in Mexico, and other global experts will meet to present experiences, lessons learned and best practices, and provide ideas on how to mainstream data collection and research on illicit financial flows into the work of national statistical offices and the relevant institutions to facilitate monitoring of SDG Indicator 16.4.1.

¹ SDG Indicator 16.4.1 is formulated as “Total value of inward and outward illicit financial flows (in current United States dollars)”
