

EMPATHY

SUPER SKILLS

WHAT IS

The ability to understand and share the feelings of others, empathy allows us to see things from the other's perspective rather than our own. It is a crucial skill that enables social and professional relationships, develops self-awareness, and contributes to an equitable and peaceful world.

Empathy is needed to express compassion (the motivation to act upon other peoples' suffering).

Children who demonstrate empathy are more self-aware.

Empathy is crucial for mental and physical well-being; it is the root of caring and enables communication and healthy social and working relationships.

Empathy teaches children responsible decision-making and to consider family and friends, their community, and world.

Empathic youth have more self-awareness and are more responsive to others, which can help protect them against substance abuse and other risky behavior.

Empathy contributes to social awareness and reduces bullying, prejudice and racism. It lays the foundation for just, peaceful and compassionate societies.

Empathy literally allows us to understand the state of mind of others and leads to more helping behavior - especially towards people outside of our own community.

WHY EMPATHY MATTERS

Did You Know?

Actively listening to others is essential to learning empathy.

THE SCIENCE OF SKILLS

UNODC's Listen First materials support the development of children that will grow to be happy, successful persons in their communities. Children who develop social and emotional learning and life skills can navigate the good days and challenges of life. They are also a part of an effective and evidence-based substance use prevention approach.
