Introduction

Article 11 of the United Nations Convention against Corruption (UNCAC) emphasizes the crucial role of the judiciary in combating corruption and recognizes that in order to play this role effectively, the judiciary itself must be free of corruption and its members must act with integrity. Accordingly, it requires each State Party to (a) take measures to strengthen integrity among members of the judiciary, and (b) take measures to prevent opportunities for corruption among members of the judiciary.

The term “integrity” in article 11, in its application to members of the judiciary, may be defined as a holistic concept that refers to the ability of the judicial system or an individual member of the judiciary to resist corruption, while fully respecting the core values of independence, impartiality, personal integrity, propriety, equality, competence and diligence. These values are identified in the Bangalore Principles of Judicial Conduct, and elaborated comprehensively in the Commentary on the Bangalore Principles of Judicial Conduct.

In 2016, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) launched a global project to provide sustained support and delivery of technical assistance to Member States in specific areas covered by the Doha Declaration, adopted at the United Nations Congress on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice in 2015, including strengthening judicial integrity and the prevention of corruption in the justice system. In particular, the Doha Declaration reaffirmed the commitment of States to “make every effort to prevent and counter corruption, and to implement measures aimed at enhancing transparency in public administration and promoting the integrity and accountability of our criminal justice systems, in accordance with the United Nations Convention against Corruption.”

The implementation of the Doha Declaration will be an important enabler for the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals and Agenda 2030, particularly for Goal 16 to “promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels.” Relevant targets under Goal 16 include 16.3 (Promote the rule of law at the national and international levels and ensure equal access to justice for all), 16.5 (Substantially reduce corruption and bribery in all their forms) and 16.6 (Develop effective, accountable and transparent institutions at all levels).

UNODC, as guardian of the Convention, serves as Secretariat to the Conference of the States Parties to UNCAC. In this role, UNODC services the Implementation Review Mechanism for the Convention. The Second Cycle of the Review Mechanism, launched in 2016, focuses on the implementation of Chapter II of the Convention, which includes article 11. The Global Judicial Integrity Network, described further below, will provide a platform for accessing relevant resources, good practices and other materials that will assist in the successful participation in, and follow-up to, the review process.

The Global Judicial Integrity Network

The Global Judicial Integrity Network is a platform to provide assistance to judiciaries in strengthening judicial integrity and preventing corruption in the justice system. The Network will promote peer learning and support activities among judges and other justice sector stakeholders; facilitate access to relevant tools and resources on various issues relating to judicial integrity; and support the further development and effective implementation of principles of judicial conduct and the prevention of corruption within the justice system. Through the Network, global guidance and technical materials on judicial integrity and anti-corruption will be developed and strengthened, and technical assistance will be provided to support judiciaries in the development and implementation of strategies, measures and systems to strengthen integrity and accountability in the justice system. The core objectives of the Network will be:

- (i) to promote networking opportunities for judges and other justice sector stakeholders through virtual and face-to-face opportunities for dialogue, with a view to continuously expanding the Network and advancing the exchange of knowledge and mutual support in strengthening judicial integrity and preventing corruption in the justice system;
- (ii) to facilitate the access of judges and other justice sector stakeholders to existing guidance materials, tools and similar resources on judicial integrity, including through the establishment of a database of relevant resources;
- (iii) to assist in the identification of gaps in international standards and technical resources on judicial integrity and to support the development of new tools and technical resources to address such gaps;
- (iv) to facilitate the identification of technical assistance needs and the provision of required technical assistance, including through facilitating peer-to-peer support and learning opportunities.

In preparation for the Launch of the Global Judicial Integrity Network, UNODC consulted with close to 4000 judges from across the globe, including through:

- Seven regional preparatory meetings held between 2016 and 2017 in Jordan, Tunisia, Thailand, Panama, Burkina Faso, Namibia and at the United Nations in Vienna, Austria;
- The attendance of the meetings of, inter alia, the International Association of Judges and its regional groupings, the Commonwealth Magistrates' and Judges' Association, the Latin American Federation of Judges, the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, the CEELI Institute Central and Eastern European Judicial Exchange Network, the Judicial Integrity Group, the Caribbean Association of Judicial Officers, the Pacific Chief Justices' Forum, the Law Association for Asia and the Pacific (LAWASIA), the International Organisation for Judicial

Training, the European Network of Councils of the Judiciary, the Commonwealth Judicial Education Institute and the 2nd High Level Meeting of Chief Justices of African Constitutional and Supreme Courts;

- The dissemination of an online survey in Arabic, English, French, Portuguese, Russian and Spanish to more than 1000 judges and justice sector stakeholders.

These consultations helped UNODC to learn more about the efforts made by judiciaries to strengthen judicial integrity in line with article 11 of the United Nations Convention against Corruption, and to identify good practices as well as any remaining challenges. As such, they provided the basis for conceptualizing the Global Judicial Integrity Network with a view to meeting the needs and expectations of judges worldwide.
