<sup>1</sup>In July 2022, the secretariat sent out note verbale CU 2022/264(A)/DTA/CEB/CSS inviting States parties to provide information on good practices and challenges concerning international cooperation to further prevent, identify, investigate and prosecute corruption during times of emergencies and crisis response and recovery, in line with paragraphs 22 and 23 of resolution 9/1 entitled “Sharm el-Sheikh declaration on strengthening international cooperation in the prevention of and fight against corruption during times of emergencies and crisis response and recovery”. As at 11 October 2022, the secretariat had received responses from 23 States parties, which were analysed in a note prepared by the secretariat, entitled “Best practices and challenges concerning international cooperation in combating corruption during times of emergencies and crisis response and recovery, and efforts to further explore and enhance knowledge of the links between corruption and other forms of crime” [CAC/COSP/EG.1/2022/CRP.1]. Responses were received from the following States parties: Australia, Bahrain, Belarus, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chad, Chile, Egypt, El Salvador, European Union, France, Georgia, Italy, Mexico, , Myanmar, Panama, Portugal, Republic of Moldova, Romania, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Türkiye and the United States of America.

Questionnaire

Corruption may contribute to impunity for other types of crime by providing the leverage to facilitate and execute them, and to make them invisible, and often exacerbates those crimes through the involvement of powerful elites and individuals. Corrupt behaviour (such as violating duties, accepting or transferring bribes, and facilitating transactions, as well as ignoring or failing to follow-up on information that a crime may be taking place) may serve as an enabler of other crimes by allowing for the enrichment of criminals and incentivizing individuals in the public and private sector to facilitate their operation. Other crimes can therefore flourish and in turn provide a basis for a wide range of corrupt behaviour.

This questionnaire is structured into two parts: Part 1 considers steps taken to understand the links between corruption and other forms of crime, while Part 2 focuses on the measures aimed at responding to corruption linked with other forms of crime.

I. Understanding the links between corruption and other forms of crime

1. Has your country undertaken any analyses or assessments to better understand the interlinkages between corruption and other forms of crime, including typologies of crime and how corruption may be used to facilitate and enable organized crime, economic and other crime, and vice versa? YES/NO.

N/A - Relevant bodies for this answer are the Ministry of Security of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Agency for Prevention of Corruption and Coordination of the fight against corruption

- a. If YES, was such analysis carried out through formal risk assessments or other methods? Please describe.
2. Please list the main typologies of other crime that have interlinkages with corruption in your country.
    - Drug trafficking
    - Money-laundering
    - Human trafficking
    - Migrant smuggling
    - Firearms trafficking
    - Crimes that affect the environment
    - Trafficking in cultural property
    - Cybercrime
    - Terrorism
    - Other forms of economic crime, organized crime or other crime with links to corruption (please list)

3. Please provide examples of corruption linked to these other crimes.

Financial intelligence unit (Department in SIPA) has identified the following typologies of predicate crimes related to money laundering:

- Perpetrators – responsible persons in local self – governments, by taking advantage of their office or official authority exceed the limits of their official authority or fail to execute their official duty, act to the detriment of state property or property (land) of local self-governments units, by initiating and implementing procedures contrary to laws and decisions. The property was illegally disposed by selling it to private investors for the construction of commercial and residential buildings. In one case, a responsible person in a local self-government body, received a cash gift from a land buyer, which he used to buy real estate, outside Bosnia and Herzegovina;
- Perpetrators – responsible persons in the BH entities (Republic of Srpska and Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina), by taking advantage of their office or official authority, creating official documents with untrue content, enabling natural persons to benefit at the expense of legal entity;
- Perpetrators – official persons in BH institutions in joint action, by taking advantage of their official authority, with an aim of acquiring an unlawful property gain for themselves, mediate in illegal employment, by demanding and accepting monetary benefits, on several occasions and from several persons.

Please elaborate if you have or had any cases of the following in your country:
