Egypt’s Best practices in Preventing and Combating Corruption in the Areas of Raising Awareness, Education, Research, and Training.
Egypt’s Ratification of the United Nations Convention against Corruption in 2003
Fulfilling Regional, Continental and International commitments
Marrakesh Declaration

Political Declaration Adopted by the General Assembly in its Special Session in 2021
Resolution 9/8 on promoting anti-corruption education, awareness-raising and training adopted during the 9th Session of the Conference of States Parties to the UN Convention against Corruption held in 2021 in Egypt.
Egypt’s Best Practices in Promoting Awareness, Education, Training and Research

Main Areas

- Mainstreaming Anti-Corruption Culture
- Using Media Activities to Spread Anti-corruption Knowledge
- Supporting Anti-Corruption Education
- Promoting Ethics and Integrity Training
- Conducting Comprehensive and Interdisciplinary Research
- Adopting The “GRACE” Initiative
Developing a Code of Ethics for University Students.
Developing a Code of Conduct for University Faculties.
Developing a Code of Ethics for University Staff.
Youth Participation in the Fight against Corruption

Strengthening Education to Combat Corruption

• The Administrative Control Authority participated for the first time in the 53rd edition of the Cairo International Book Fair in 2022.
Strengthening Education to Combat Corruption

- The Administrative Control Authority’s pavilion included a number of research papers and publications relevant to corruption and its negative impact; as well as, the constitutional, legal and institutional frameworks of anti-corruption bodies in Egypt.
Strengthening Education to Combat Corruption

Conducting seminars with the aim of raising anti-corruption awareness.
Anti-Corruption Education

In pre-university education, Egypt has been keen to include concepts related to transparency integrity and rejection of corruption in school curricula of various educational levels, such as Citizenship, Arabic language and Psychology.
Anti-Corruption Education

Workshops were held to explain the importance of student education about the risks of corruption and the positive outcomes of including the relevant concepts in the curricula.
Anti-Corruption Education

Teaching the “Human Rights and Anti-Corruption” course in all public universities as part of the courses that must be successfully completed.
Building Anti-Corruption Capacity

Developing a diploma and master’s program in the field of “Governance and Anti-Corruption”
Building Anti-Corruption Capacity

Sending members of the Administrative Control Authority to study at the International Anti-Corruption Academy.
The use of Interactive Educational Technology in Promoting the Fight Against Corruption
Promoting Anti-Corruption Research

Establishing a Research Center on Corruption Prevention and Control at the National Anti-Corruption Academy. The Center conducts research and studies pertinent to corruption prevention and control, collects corruption-related data and statistics, proposes recommendations and initiatives to prevent and fight corruption and examines the applicability of these recommendations.
Encouraging Youth to Conduct Anti-Corruption Research

Launching a competition for the best policy paper in “Improving Public Services and Combating Corruption” in which the winning papers competed for the best development policy papers at the level of Egyptian universities.
Conducting several training programs for government officials, the private sector, civil society, and citizens
Conducting several training programs for Arab and African law enforcement agencies
Fighting Corruption for Achieving Egypt’s Vision 2030
The Arab Republic of Egypt
The Administrative Control Authority
THANK YOU