Report on the meeting of the Working Group on the Smuggling of Migrants held in Vienna on 4 and 5 July 2018

I. Introduction

1. Pursuant to resolution 5/3, adopted by the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime at its fifth session, an open-ended intergovernmental interim working group on the smuggling of migrants was established to advise and assist the Conference in the implementation of its mandate with regard to the Protocol against the Smuggling of Migrants by Land, Sea and Air, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime. The first meeting of the Working Group was held from 30 May to 1 June 2012, the second from 11 to 13 November 2013, the third from 18 to 20 November 2015 and the fourth from 11 to 13 September 2017.

2. In its resolution 7/1, entitled “Strengthening the implementation of the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime and the Protocols thereto”, the Conference decided, inter alia, that the Working Group would be a constant element of the Conference of the Parties, forwarding its reports and recommendations to the Conference, and encouraged the Working Group to consider meeting on an annual basis, as needed, and to hold its meetings consecutively, in order to ensure the effective use of resources.

3. In its resolution 8/2, the Conference decided to continue the process of establishing the mechanism for the review of the implementation of the Convention and the Protocols thereto based on the recommendations contained in the report on the meeting to explore all options regarding an appropriate and effective review mechanism for the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime and the Protocols thereto, held in Vienna on 6 and 7 June 2016 (CTOC/COP/WG.8/2016/2). In the same resolution, the Conference also decided to elaborate specific procedures and rules for the functioning of the review mechanism for consideration and adoption by the Conference at its ninth session, which was to be guided by the principles and characteristics set out in Conference resolution 5/5.

4. In resolution 8/2, the Conference further decided that the review mechanism would progressively address all the articles of the Convention and the Protocols thereto for each of the instruments that States parties were parties to, grouped in thematic clusters in accordance with the content of their provisions and that, in order to review each thematic cluster of articles, the relevant working group would, in the following two years, with the assistance of the Secretariat, define a short, precise and focused self-assessment questionnaire.

* Reissued for technical reasons on 14 September 2018.

5. Also in resolution 8/2, the Conference requested all States parties to submit responses to the existing questionnaires on the implementation of the Convention and the Protocols thereto.

B. General recommendations

9. States parties should address the underlying causes of the smuggling of migrants in a comprehensive, coordinated and direct manner at the national, bilateral, regional and international levels, taking into account the socioeconomic realities of migration and paying special attention to economically and socially depressed areas.

10. States parties should consider:

(a) Protecting and ensuring the rights and dignity of smuggled migrants while combating smuggling of migrants, giving particular attention to women and children;

(e) Contributing to the extent possible to the UNODC Case Law Database on the Smuggling of Migrants.

11. The Working Group recommended that the Conference of the Parties consider adopting the questionnaire on the smuggling of migrants as approved by the Working Group.

III. Summary of deliberations

12. At the beginning of the meeting of the Working Group on 4 July 2018, general statements were made by the representatives of El Salvador, Uruguay and the European Union. All three speakers stressed the importance of upholding the human rights of migrants, including the need to refrain from criminalizing migrants.

13. The representative of Uruguay stressed that it was in the interest of States to address the underlying causes of the smuggling of migrants in a coordinated and direct way and to encourage broad social and economic policies for education, crime prevention, health and justice, in order to avoid situations that gave rise to the smuggling of migrants. The speaker stressed the importance of international cooperation at the official and informal levels. While recognizing the right of States to develop and implement policies governing migratory flows within their territory, the speaker called for States to avoid violations of human rights of migrants and their families, especially those of vulnerable persons and children. The speaker emphasized that refusing to allow boats containing migrants to dock and incarcerating children in jails, separate from their parents, were morally inexcusable violations of the most elemental ethical rules.

14. The representative of the European Union, speaking on behalf of the European Union and its member States, stressed the role of criminal networks in placing migrants in dangerous situations, violating their fundamental rights and even causing death. Despite efforts to disrupt migrant smuggling criminality and protect migrants, smuggling to and through the European Union continued to be a reality, necessitating the reinforcement of transnational cooperation, including cooperation at the level of the European Union, with strategic partners, international organizations and civil society. It was noted that the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol continued to have a key role to play, as did UNODC as one of the European Union's primary partners in this field.

15. The representative of El Salvador highlighted the importance of international cooperation in enabling origin, transit and destination countries to dismantle smuggling networks and ensure the protection of the human rights of all migrants and families. El Salvador condemned policies and regulations that promoted arbitrary detention of migrant children and separated them from their families, and called for criminal justice responses to be comprehensive and take into account the rights of migrants and their families. The speaker noted that there were State obligations in that respect that existed outside of the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol. The speaker also called on States parties to support negotiations on the Global Compact on Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration as an excellent opportunity to address the challenges of migration as well as its contribution to sustainable development.

16. Under agenda item 2, the Working Group resumed discussions on the draft questionnaire by returning to specific questions on which there were outstanding concerns, following the two readings of the document at the previous meeting of the Working Group.

17. In the discussion on the item, a number of speakers stressed the need to ensure the questionnaire's consistency with the language of the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol, calling for questions that went beyond the scope of the Protocol not to be included in the questionnaire. One speaker suggested making a recommendation to the Conference of the Parties for guidance on how to deal with questions that went beyond the scope of the instrument.

18. A number of speakers expressed a desire to avoid duplication between the questionnaire on the smuggling of migrants and the questionnaire dealing with the Organized Crime Convention, reiterating that several questions would be better placed in the questionnaire related to the Organized Crime Convention.

19. On the basis of comments made during the third reading of the text, the Chair developed a revised version of the non-paper containing the draft questionnaire.

20. The Working Group then considered item 3 on the agenda, entitled "Criminal justice responses, including international cooperation, in investigations and prosecutions of perpetrators of migrant smuggling operations".

21. The discussion under agenda item 3 was facilitated by Mr. Kamel Samir, Chief of the Office for International Cooperation at the Office of the Prosecutor General of Egypt, on behalf of the Group of African States; Mr. Enrique Octavio Baeza Pulido, Official of the Federal Public Prosecutor's Office, Specialized Unit for Investigation of Trafficking in Minors, Persons and Organs at the Special Attorney's Office for Organized Crime Investigation, Attorney-General's Office of Mexico, on behalf of the Group of Latin American and Caribbean States; and Mr. Pravit Roykaew, Senior Expert Public Prosecutor of Thailand, on behalf of the Group of Asia-Pacific States.

22. Mr. Samir delivered a presentation regarding Egypt's experience in investigating and prosecuting perpetrators of migrant smuggling. The panellist outlined the applicability of the Constitution of Egypt of 2014 and Law 82 of 2016 on combating illegal migration and smuggling of migrants to Egypt's response to smuggling of migrants that went beyond the Protocol in the criminalization of acts of smuggling and the rights given to victims. He noted that the Egyptian National Coordination Committee for Preventing and Combating Illegal Migration, as a group of 26 national stakeholders, worked to address national and international coordination between policies, plans and programmes to prevent and combat illegal migration and protect smuggled migrants and witnesses, including their rights to legal aid, privacy, confidentiality and psychological assistance. The panellist also outlined the good cooperation between the Public Prosecution Office of Egypt and UNODC, providing examples of national, regional and international initiatives to counter smuggling of migrants, mentioning in particular the African experience. The panellist noted that the Prosecutor General of Egypt was acting as Vice-President of the African Prosecutors Association.

23. Mr. Baeza Pulido delivered a presentation on Mexico's experience with the smuggling of migrants, outlining the primary routes and nationalities of those detected. The panellist highlighted the often deplorable conditions in which migrants were smuggled. He also noted the recent use of ride-hailing services, whose drivers were often unaware that they were assisting organized criminal networks. The panellist noted that in Mexico, smuggled migrants were no longer treated as criminals but as victims entitled to a range of human rights protections. While those migrants could be compelled to make a statement in court, a number of protection measures were implemented where that occurred. The panellist highlighted the good cooperation with the Ibero-American Association of Public Prosecutors, as well as with UNODC through the national training programme on preventing and combating migrant smuggling in Mexico (SOMMEX), which provided a range of tailored assistance in preventing and combating the smuggling of migrants.

24. Mr. Roykaew described the experience in Thailand. He explained the areas of overlap between the smuggling of migrants and trafficking in persons. While the limited availability of data in Thailand made it difficult to determine the real magnitude of the problem, UNODC figures indicated that of some 660,000 irregular migrants entering Thailand per year, an estimated 80 per cent relied on the services of smugglers. He noted the considerable demand for low-skilled migrant workers in sectors such as fishing, agriculture and domestic work, and the lack of economic opportunities in the countries of origin. Current challenges that Thailand faced included the low risk of detection at some official border checkpoints, difficulties in obtaining information from smuggled migrants and the limited use of mutual legal assistance channels within the region of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations. The speaker noted that at present, Thailand did not have a specific law dealing with the smuggling of migrants, meaning that smuggled migrants were addressed under immigration legislation and generally deported once detected. However, a new draft law would provide an improved scope for addressing migrant smuggling and should enable Thailand to ratify the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol by the end of 2018.

25. During the question-and-answer session following the panellists' presentations, several States parties highlighted the considerable areas of overlap between the smuggling of migrants and trafficking in persons that existed on the ground, and the need for investigators and prosecutors to have sufficient knowledge and expertise to respond accordingly.

26. Several States parties emphasized the importance of addressing root causes contributing to smuggling of migrants and taking preventative measures, including awareness-raising activities, while also enhancing legal migration channels.

27. States parties exchanged views on approaches taken to mutual legal assistance and extradition requests relating to smuggling of migrants. Several noted a good level of coordination with other countries, including through informal communication prior to formal submission of requests, as well as prior to final decisions thereon. The need to be able to readily identify authorities responsible for sharing such information was highlighted.

28. A number of States parties took the opportunity to deliver national statements. In doing so, many States parties stressed the importance of the Global Compact on Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration, which they hoped would provide practical tools to protect the rights of smuggled migrants, regardless of their migratory status.

29. Many speakers, while recognizing the sovereign right of States parties to implement policies governing migration, stressed the importance of the non-criminalization of smuggled migrants and the need for broad human rights protection. Several States parties expressed serious concerns regarding restrictive border policies and the detention of children, in particular when separated from their families. Several speakers also noted that implementing security measures without addressing the socioeconomic causes of migration yielded limited success.

30. Many States parties stressed that international cooperation was the best means of tackling smuggling of migrants in a comprehensive and integrated manner. Strengthening regional approaches was identified as a key aspect of such cooperation.

31. A number of States parties noted the importance of the role of UNODC in facilitating technical assistance in promoting ratification and implementation of the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol, with one speaker urging other States parties to increase support provided to the efforts of UNODC to counter the smuggling of migrants. The value of UNODC tools, including the Smuggling of Migrants Knowledge Portal, was also highlighted.

32. The Working Group finalized the consideration of the questionnaire. In doing so, the Working Group underlined that references to the applicability of special investigative techniques and asset recovery tools to migrant smuggling offences should be included in the questionnaire relating to the Organized Crime Convention.

33. The Chair, upon approval of the questionnaire by the Working Group, noted that the adopted questionnaire would be attached as an annex to the report of the meeting.

Annex

Questionnaire for the review of the implementation of the Protocol against the Smuggling of Migrants by Land, Sea and Air, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime

1. At its eighth session, the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime decided to continue the process of establishing the mechanism for the review of the implementation of the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime and the Protocols thereto, and that such mechanism should progressively address all the articles contained in the Convention and the Protocols thereto (Conference resolution 8/2).

2. The Conference also decided that the review mechanism should be conducted within the Conference and its existing working groups, which should add the matter as an item to their agenda, consistent with their areas of expertise and without prejudice to their respective existing mandates, and that for that purpose, each relevant working group should define, in the following two years, with the assistance of the Secretariat, a short, precise and focused self-assessment questionnaire.

3. The present questionnaire was developed pursuant to this mandate, to collect information from States parties and signatories to the Protocol against the Smuggling of Migrants by Land, Sea and Air, in accordance with Conference resolution 8/2.

4. The questionnaire builds on previous information-gathering questionnaires developed by the Secretariat and adopted by the Conference at its first and second sessions and covers all relevant provisions of the Protocol. The questionnaire has also been aligned with the International Framework for Action to Implement the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol (2012), a key technical assistance tool developed and widely used to support United Nations Member States in the effective implementation of the Smuggling of Migrants Protocol.

5. The questionnaire is based on the following general principles:

(a) In order to avoid the need for extensive interpretation, questions contain language on concrete measures instead of generic references to the Protocol and Convention provisions;

(b) Questions aim at providing a basis for the review of the legislative transposition as well as the practical implementation of measures provided in the Protocol;

(c) Questions also relating to the mutatis mutandis application of the Convention on specific matters falling under the scope of application of the Protocol are addressed in a separate questionnaire on the implementation of the Convention;

(d) States are encouraged to submit laws, regulations, cases and other documents on the Sharing Electronic Resources and Laws on Crime (SHERLOC) knowledge management portal.
