

Short biography

Elodie Beth-Seo is a Senior Project Officer at UNESCO in the Section for Global Citizenship and Peace Education. In the last three years she has spearheaded a partnership with UNODC to empower children and young people through global citizenship education with a view to promoting a culture of lawfulness in the context of the Doha programme. Prior to this, she worked as Governance Advisor for UNDP, advising partners in Asia-Pacific in their efforts to promote just and peaceful societies, including in the education sector. In addition, Ms. Beth-Seo has worked for the OECD as Head of Unit as well as for UNODC as Anti-corruption Advisor based in the Jordanian government. Ms. Beth-Seo holds a Masters in Public Management from Sciences Po Paris as well as a Masters in European Business from ESCP-EAP Business School.