

The UNODC Crime Research Section cordially invites you to the side event

What does evidence tell us about drug-related violence?

Tuesday, 13 April, at 14.10-15.00 (CET)

Virtual event weblink: <https://tinyurl.com/77m22cj7>

The purpose of the event is to explore research-based evidence on drug-related violence. The nexus between drugs and violence is a complex issue, with multiple facets. Starting from the tripartite framework developed by Goldstein, the discussion will bring to the fore findings of available evidence, based on recent examples and developments in drug markets in different regions.

Chair: Angela Me, Chief, Research and Trend Analysis Branch, UNODC

Chloe Carpentier, Chief, Drug Research Section, UNODC

Marieke Liem, Professor, Leiden University, the Netherlands

Tulio Kahn, Researcher, Fundação Espaço Democrático, Brazil

Irene Alvarez-Rodriguez, Researcher, Noria Research, Mexico

Q&A Moderator: Theodore Leggett, Research Officer, Crime Research Section, UNODC