1 PARTNER PROGRAMME

1.1 Background

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) jointly with the National Committee on Combating Human Trafficking (NCCHT) in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is currently implementing the second phase of a project entitled “Support and strengthen national capacities to effectively prevent, suppress and punish trafficking in persons (TiP) in accordance with international standards and best practices”. While the first phase of the project focused on building capacities for the effective implementation of the first-ever national referral mechanism for victims of TiP in Saudi Arabia, the second phase aims to support the NCCHT more comprehensively through the implementation of the National Action Plan against Trafficking in Persons.

1.2 Objectives

This Call for Proposals takes into consideration the importance of harnessing all available resources towards the implementation of activities aimed at meeting the objectives of this partner programme.

The overall aim of this partner programme is to effectively prevent trafficking in persons.

More specifically, the main objectives are two-fold and consist in:

- Developing/enhancing available knowledge of the forms of TiP, with a focus on TiP for the purpose of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism ;
- Further engaging universities and research centres in efforts to raise awareness, on sexual exploitation in travel and tourism among societies.

1.3 Thematic focus and priority issues

This Call for Proposals seeks to provide funding support to not-for-profit organizations (NPOs) that work in the areas of social sciences, law and human rights and have previously conducted research studies on topics relating to criminology, trafficking in persons, and/or victimization (studies on issues such as labour market, travel and tourism violations may also be considered relevant).

Funding under this Call for Proposals shall be provided to projects that present a concrete and detailed research plan for conducting a study on trafficking in persons for the purpose of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism.

The proposal should be submitted in English.

Within the scope of the project, the successful applicant will deliver the study which must be written in Arabic. The reports summarizing the progress of the project will be provided in English.

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the Human Rights Commission of Saudi Arabia (HRC) shall retain the rights to all intellectual property and other proprietary rights associated with the study.

Indicative topics/areas that should be covered in the study include the following:

- Characteristics and indicators of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism as a form of trafficking in persons in the international legal framework and the national legal systems.
- Distinction between the crime of trafficking in persons for the purposes of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism, and other similar crimes.

- Identification of procedures for protecting and assisting victims of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism within the international legal frameworks and national legal systems on trafficking in persons.
- Recommendations for enhancing the applicable national frameworks to effectively prevent, suppress and punish trafficking in persons for the purpose of sexual exploitation in travel and tourism .
